KHRUSHCHEV

after Khrushchev finished speaking.

SAME BLAST EARLIER

The night before, Khrushchev had denounced "Fascist gangs" in Hungary and "imperialists and their puppets" in the Egyptian war during a Kremlin reception for the Poles.

On that occasion the Western diplomats stalked out and did not return.

Sunday night's party followed agreement on a joint Polish-Russian statement which some Poles consider a virtual declaration of independence — although Poland remains firmly within the Moscow alliance.

Khrushchev began calmly:

"We are Bolsheviks. We stick firmly to the Lenin precept — don't be stubborn if you see you are wrong, but don't give in if you are right."

He said the Communist countries can find solutions to all their problems on the basis of mutual understanding and equality.

But then, seemingly directing his remarks at the Western diplomats, he said:

"We say this not only for the Socialist states who are more akin to us. We base ourselves on the idea that we must peacefully co-exist. About the capitalist states, it doesn't depend on you whether or not we exist."

"HISTORY FAVORS US"

Khrushchev then announced that history was on the Communist side and that "we will bury you." Other Russian leaders burst into applause.

On Hungary, Khrushchev said: "We are very sorry that such a situation exists there. We are sure that the Hungarian working class will find the strength to overcome the difficulties. But the most important thing is that the counter-revolution must be shattered."

Of Egypt:

"The Western powers are trying to denigrate Nasser... the situation is serious and we are realists. The fire must be put out. I think the British and French will be wise enough to withdraw their forces and then Egypt will emerge stronger than ever."

Again referring to the West, Khrushchev said:

"You say we want war, but you now have got yourselves into a position I would call idiotic..."

MENTIONS TROOPS

"But we don't want to profit by it. If you withdraw your troops from Germany, France and Britain — I'm speaking of American troops — we will not stay one day in Poland, Hungary and Romania."

"But we, mister capitalists, we are beginning to understand your methods. You have given us a lesson in Egypt. If we had a quarter of our present friendships for the Poles, Czechs and Slovaks, before the war, (Second World War) the war would never have started."

OTTAWA RIFLE BAN BLAMED

Marooned U.S. Party Suffered Food Lack

PORT HARDY, B.C. (CP)—Three Americans, rescued Saturday after being marooned on the tip of Vancouver Island, said if Canadian government regulations had permitted them to carry a rifle they would not have been without food.

The Americans and a Canadian department of transport employee were rescued by a commercial airlines helicopter.

They are Ronald C. Hetherington of Seattle, who suffered a mild heart attack Friday; Richard Radra and Lyle Work, both of Oakland, Calif. Fourth man was S. J. Sillett, 21, of Vancouver.

The three Americans are employees of the U.S. coast and geodetic survey. They had been at Cape Scott since July 23 working an electronic indicator station connected with laying a telephone cable from Port Angeles, Wash., to Alaska.

Hetherington, foreman on the job, said the three had been on short rations for some time, and that food supplies had dwindled to corn meal in the last few days.

Last Tuesday, Sillett, a government radio operator, flew in to aid the stranded men, but was marooned when the light plane was forced to take off because of bad weather just after Sillett reached the beach.

Saturday the helicopter took the men to Hanson Lagoon, three miles from Cape Scott, and later a PWA Beaver flew them to Port Hardy.

"If your Canadian government didn't look unkindly on us carrying rifles on these jobs," Hetherington said, "we would have had more to eat—there was plenty of game about."

Mrs. Tufnell said she had been to several parties with the duke and he has visited my mother's home."

"My friendship with the duke had nothing to do with my husband and I decided to live apart. The fact that I met him just before was a complete coincidence. Romance doesn't enter into this."

Montreal, Ottawa Experts To Head New Museums

MONTREAL (CP)—Resources Minister Lesage today announced the names of the heads of Canada's two new national museums.

He told a meeting of the Canadian Club here that Dr. Jacques Rousseau, 51, director of Montreal's botanical gardens, will be director of the new Canadian museum of human history, and Dr. Loris Shano Russell, 52, of Ottawa will be director of the Canadian museum of natural history.

Dr. Russell, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., now is on the staff of the present National Museum which is to be split into the two new institutions. Prime Minister St. Laurent announced the move in Ottawa Nov. 12.

Dr. Russell is a graduate of University of Alberta and Princeton University. After service with the University of Toronto and the Royal Ontario Museum, he joined the mines department. He joined the staff of the National Museum in 1950 after serving overseas in the Second World War. He has been secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Museums Association since 1950.

He is known in scientific circles for work in the fields of paleontology, geology, zoology and museology.

Political Action Studied by Labor

B.C. Federation Names Group To Recommend 'Effective Program'

(From The Canadian Press)

Newly-formed B.C. Federation of Labor decided Sunday to appoint a committee to study provincial politics.

The resolution, one of nine important steps taken at the four-day Vancouver meeting — the federation's first annual convention — also endorsed political policies set by the Canadian Labor Congress, formed by merger last April.

The committee will report to the B.C. Federation's next convention "with definite proposals for an effective political action program."

Meanwhile it will meet with the CCF party, farmers' organizations and other co-operatives pledged to support the federation program.

RCN SEAMAN COMMITTED ON MURDER COUNT

LONDON (CP)—Leading Seaman Richard Rhodes Henley of the Royal Canadian Navy destroyer Iroquois, was committed for trial today on a charge of murdering a Soho shop assistant Oct. 27.

executive, was a co-chairman of the convention with Dan Radford, former president of the old B.C. Federation of Labor.

First vice-president is Joseph Morris, International Woodworkers of America District 1; Robert Smeal, Victoria, national representative of Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport Workers, third vice-president; George Home, former B.C. Federation secretary, new secretary-treasurer.

1. Request that the B.C. Liquor Control Board restore alcohol percentage in liquor to pre-war level.

2. Request that the provincial government take steps to permit legal Sunday sports on a local basis.

3. Resolution asking the provincial government to release the RCMP report on the Sturdy-Sommers case.

4. Request for a contributory national health scheme covering all Canadians including newly-arrived immigrants.

5. Referral to the new executive of a resolution asking for a universal $100 a month old age pension.

6. Introduction of a resolution calling for establishment of senior colleges in outlying areas of the province, working in conjunction with the University of B.C.

7. Endorsement of a resolution urging the government to pay tuition fees of high school graduates showing scholastic promise who are unable to attend university because of the cost. Also to pay part of travel and living costs of students from the outcountry.

8. Rejection of a resolution urging the CLC to lift suspension of the Communist-dominated United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.).

9. Request to the federal government to pay prevailing rates to fire fighters employed by the defence department in military and naval establishments.

BLACK ELECTED

A total of about 105 resolutions were dealt-with by the convention, apart from constitutional resolutions.

New executive of the federation is headed by William Black, president, business agent of Hospital Employees' Union, local 180, Vancouver, formerly a Trades Union Congress organization.

Other executive members, apart from second vice-president Victor Midgley, international representative of the carpenters' union in Victoria, are former B.C. Federation of Labor (CCL) leaders, favoring CCF policies.

JOEY IS SEVEN

Boy Conductor Excites Carnegie Hall

NEW YORK (AP)—While most parents were tucking their seven-year-olds into bed, a seven-year-old New York boy was making his debut Sunday night as conductor of the Symphony of the Air in Carnegie Hall.

The youngster, in white suit and white socks, bare knees, a shock of curly brown hair and a sober little face, led the grown-up musicians in a grown-up program: Mozart and Rossini overtures, the Haydn "surprise" symphony and even the Beethoven fifth.

His name is Joey Alfidi, son of a musician and billed as the "world's youngest conductor."

It was a benefit for the Sisters of Charity of St. Joseph's Hospital in suburban Yonkers, where Joey was born. It was not a big audience but it was a happy one, and Joey was happiest of all. He knew all the gestures, and he used them all, and the orchestra did right by him.

He was self-possessed, except that a couple of batons slipped out of his hand—they used to slip out of the grip of Joey's predecessor, Arturo Toscanini. And he didn't fumble when the audience broke in with applause before he finished one of the Haydn movements.

Joey's father, Frank Alfidi, is a trumpet player who runs a music school in Yonkers.

Six Hungarian Refugees Welcomed at Montreal

By JANE BECKER

Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Six Hungarian refugees, first to come to Canada from the rebellion-torn homeland, arrived in Montreal by air during the weekend and pledged themselves to continue their country's fight for liberty from Russian domination.

"Hungarians will keep up the struggle by any possible means, both inside and outside Hungary," said Solyom Andras, a 38-year-old former Budapest auto mechanic.

"About 25,000 Hungarians hope to carry the struggle on from outside the boundaries of their homeland," he said, expressing a hope for United Nations assistance.

Mr. Andras arrived Saturday night. He was followed early Sunday by five others—Mr. and Mrs. Karoly Marton and their daughter, Beata, 13 months, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pecs.

A total of about 40 Hungarian refugees are expected to arrive in Canada by next Friday. Some 17 are destined for Montreal and the rest for Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

WALKED TO FREEDOM

The Martons and the Pecs, residents of a town called Sopron five miles from the Austrian border, walked to freedom 30 minutes before the frontier was closed. The Martons wheeled their child to safety in a baby carriage, which was with them Sunday, one of the few possessions they carried out.

Bit by bit, under questioning, the refugees told newsmen of their last few weeks in war-torn Hungary.

Hungary's future is still a a miracle, said Mr. Marton. During the thick of the fighting, feeling among patriots ran so high, he said, that he saw one teen-aged girl throw herself under a Russian tank with a hand grenade to make sure it would be blown up.

FOOD SUPPLY SHORT

At one stage, Soviet troops had run short of food, and had sold sten guns and ammunition to patriots in return for supplies. Today, he added, refusal to work is the only weapon the Hungarians have left.

The refugees' own future looks more secure. The immigration department says it has found a job for mechanic Andras. It expects little trouble in placing Mr. Marton, a mining engineer, or Mr. Pecs, a textile worker. All are lodged at the immigration centre here until suitable housing is found.

The usual tedious inspection of baggage by the customs was spared them. Total load, outside of a few pieces of hand luggage, consisted of two suitcases and the baby carriage.

Russ Limit Army Activities In Poland Under New Pact

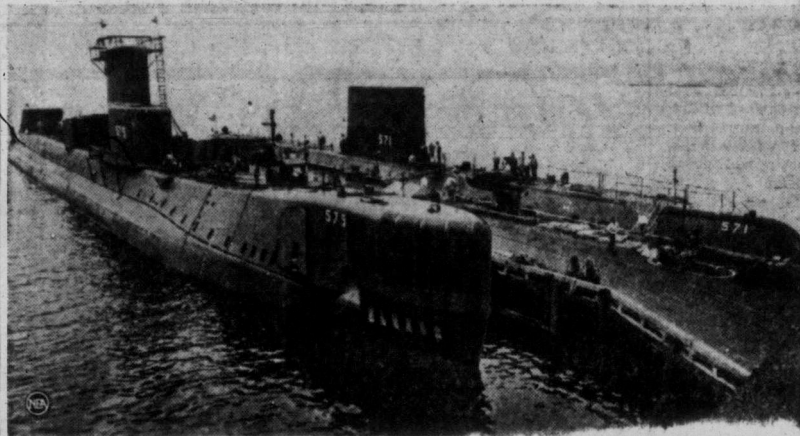

MOSCOW (AP)—Wladyslaw Gomulka, of Poland, signed with the Soviet government Sunday night a joint declaration which keeps Poland firmly within the Communist bloc but provides recognition of its sovereignty and equality.

The new Polish regime has agreed to let Soviet troops remain in the country but limitations have been placed on the movement of Red Army forces.

Consultations will be held on the strength and composition of the Soviet troops in Poland.

The Gomulka delegation, which included Polish Prime Minister Josef Cyrankiewicz, left for home by train after spending four days in Moscow. Signing the communiqué for the Soviet Union were Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev.

U.S. ATOMIC SUBMARINE "SEA WOLF" GIVING TROUBLE—There is a serious doubt among experts that America's second atom sub, Sea Wolf, will ever be as successful as Nautilus, the first such vessel, which is performing beyond expectations. It's possible the sodium-type atomic reactor will have to be replaced by the hot-water type of the Nautilus. This would be an enormous addition to the cost of the Sea Wolf, already estimated to be $32,700,000. The delay could run into years. Sea Wolf, left, and Nautilus are pictured at Groton, Conn. Russian Disarmament Proposal Labelled Cover-Up by U.K. Press

LONDON (Reuters)—Most British newspapers attack Russia's latest disarmament proposals as a propaganda cover for Soviet repression of Hungary, but say the opportunity for top-level talks in the present state of world tension cannot be ignored.

The Russians in new proposals Saturday—coupled with the announcement of a new nuclear explosion—gave qualified acceptance to President Eisenhower's "open skies" aerial inspection plan, proposed again a ban on nuclear weapons and a reduction of ground forces.

A foreign office spokesman said the British government will start consultations with the United States shortly on the proposals, but he would make no further comment.

U.S. STARTS STUDY

At Washington, President Eisenhower ordered a careful study of Russia's new disarmament proposals.

His aim is to determine whether they offer any fresh openings for negotiations which could end the East-West arms race and bring the threat of a hydrogen war under the control of a global disarmament program.

The State Department received from Ambassador

Charles E. Bohlen in Moscow the text of a declaration disclosed in the Russian capital early Saturday. It was understood to have been accompanied by a message from Premier Bulganin to Eisenhower asking for its consideration here.

Bulganin called for a new summit meeting of the Big Four powers plus India, but not including Red China. He offered to discuss Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection plan which he had previously rejected.

Russia is also believed to have proposed the creation of a 1,000-mile buffer zone between East and West which would be subject to President Eisenhower's "open sky" inspection plan.

The note, it is understood, repeated the Soviet call for a reduction of armed forces to the following totals: United States, Russia and China, 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 men each; Britain and France, 650,000 men each; other nations, no more than 200,000 men.

RENO, Nev. (AP)—A hypnotist has telegraphed President Eisenhower suggesting that he "lead the nation in a humane Thanksgiving" Thursday by putting his turkey in a trance before the axe falls.

"This is easily done by first talking to him (the bird) softly, laying his head quietly on the ground where you stretch a piece of white string," messaged Arthur Ellen.

"His eyes focus on the string, thereby allaying his fears and virtually putting him to sleep. The bird is not frightened at the time of the execution, tastes better due to the absence of adrenalin in the bloodstream and plucks easier because the muscles holding the feathers are relaxed."

WICKENBURG, Ariz. (AP)—Seeking action on a long overdue bill, automobile dealer Bernard Hill wrote the following letter to a customer:

"Dear friend: What would all your neighbors think if we came to your town and repossessed your car?"

The customer wrote back: "I have taken this matter up with my neighbors and they all think it would be a lousy trick."

MANISTIQUE, Mich. (AP)—World skeet-shooting champion Chesley J. Crites took careful aim with his deer rifle and fired eight times—at his own four-seater airplane. Crites, 46, of Detroit, had no choice. He had started the plane's motor at Blaney Park airstrip near this upper peninsula town, not realizing that the throttle was wide open.

The plane broke its tie-lines and roared off down the field, never leaving the ground but circling the field crazily out of control.

Crites, president of the National Skeet Association and current international skeet shooting champion, grabbed his deer rifle and fired away at the plane.

Eight bullets ripped into the motor. Then as Crites watched sadly, the plane caught fire and burned—a total loss.

Oil-Short Britons Give Up Sunday Drive

LONDON (CP)—Thousands of automobile drivers in Britain, Sweden and Switzerland stayed off the highways Sunday as the pinch resulting from the Middle East war squeeze began to hurt.

The move was voluntary in Britain—in answer to a plea by the government to co-operate in saving petroleum products that come largely from Middle East pipe lines and through the Suez Canal.

The Swiss government, however, banned Sunday motoring, except for special cases, as a forerunner to full scale rationing expected next month.

Sweden banned private motoring on weekends and directed filling stations not to sell any gasoline on weekends.

Even if the Suez Canal is opened in relatively quick time—and few expect this—western Europe faces a bleak winter. Oil and coal men predict new rises in prices.

The Market-Place

I had a dream, and in my dream I was in a democratic market-place where anyone who wanted could have a soapbox and hold forth in Hyde Park fashion.

I heard a woman saying, "Canada has rattled on the Old Country and the ineffectual Lester Pearson has practically wrecked the Commonwealth."

"I heard another saying, 'France and Great Britain were fully justified in taking police action to protect the canal.'"

Another said: "The British and the French have committed an act of pure aggression, and might is never right."

Another said: "Thanks to Mr. Pearson's magnificent leadership Canada has assumed the moral leadership of the Commonwealth."

Another said that it was hypocritical to say that Canada was any more moral than any other nation.

"Eden's worked for peace," said one.

"Eden's jeopardised the peace," screamed another.

On the provincial front, one voice was saying that Mr. Bennett is God's greatest gift to British Columbia. Another was saying that Mr. Bennett is first cousin to Big Brother, and was talking about this dark period in provincial politics.

"Fluoridation! Give us fluoridation," cried one voice. "Rat poison," cried another. "It's a diabolical, scheme by the Communists, linked up with the aluminum interests. Why should we be forced to put this poison into our systems?"

Several voices were crying out their belief in public ownership. Others were shouting for private enterprise. And a gentle little lady was saying quietly that she didn't give a hoot for public ownership or private enterprise. The chief thing, she said, was that pets should be evacuated along with the less important beings.

A strident voice was saying that the only thing that really counted in this world was money. Money and power.

A fainter voice retorted firmly that money wasn't everything, and then went on to talk about "the eternal values."

A rather hard-faced woman was saying that she for one was quite determined to keep up with the Joneses and show that she was just as good as anybody else. And the man beside her was saying that keeping up with the Joneses was what caused the everlasting rat race.

A pale young man with unruly hair was proclaiming that religion is the central core of life.

And another pale young man with unruly hair was saying that religion is barbaric superstition and the opiate of the masses.

Another young man had gathered quite a circle of listeners to his cries that rock'n'roll was a savage, sexual dance and a modern variation of the old pagan, fertility rites.

But the girl on the soapbox next to his wasn't listening to him. She was singing, "Love Me Tender," and looking absolutely gone.

A Jehovah's Witness wasn't speaking. He was simply holding out a pamphlet slamming the Roman Catholic Church.

But a talk of Gog and Armageddon and the chosen race.

There were plenty more speakers in the market-place. Some were swearing by the United Nations. And some were swearing at the United Nations.

But I liked the democratic market-place of my dream. Always, I'd rather have argument and a ferment of ideas than the dreadful apathy of people who swallow everything they're told, and are only allowed to hear one side of controversial questions.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Billy Bunter Again

LONDON — My mailbox Mr. R. Colby, of Toronto's Denison Square, is one of numerous readers who have written to say that the piece I did recently on Billy Bunter revived pleasant memories of following the adventures of this English character of schoolboy fiction before the war.

Reyburn

"But it wasn't only boys of English-type Dominions such as Australia and New Zealand who loved him," he writes. "Don't forget English-type Dominions such as Canada. In my youth around Broadway and Queen Streets, we tried to get local lads interested in cricket as indulged in by Harry Wharton and Co., but in the end I'm afraid cricket remained just an insect to us."

R. W. W. Field, of Scarborough, tells me that The Telegram's Ted Reeve is steeped in Harry Wharton of Greyfriars and chums Billy Bunter, Bob Cherry and Frank Nugent and if I'm not more accurate in writing of them the poet of Squaw Hollow may nail me to the column in his Sporting Extras.

A. L. Stevenson, of Belmont Avenue, in Victoria, B.C., sent me two copies of The Magnet featuring Billy Bunter stories (of the year 1933) and proof that they still have appeal for the new generation is that we can't drag young Mac away from them for his chores of mowing the lawn and walking the dogs.

Gordon Best, Toronto public relations man, writes to ask: "How on earth can passengers on a ship listen to music on a radiogram?"

Sure, the usual thing is to send a message by radiogram but in England it's a portman-teau word for radio-gramophone.

E. Victor Spielberg writes from Toronto's Gladstone Avenue about English people who come to Canada not being assimilated any too fast and quotes the story of the Englishman in Britain who wrote a friend in Vancouver asking him to meet his son who was arriving in Halifax. "Meet him yourself," cabled the Vancouver friend. "You're closer to him than I am."

Mrs. Lynne Clarke of Marilyn Crescent, Toronto, is one of many to write about a column in which a Canadian I talked to wanted to move to England but his wife was against it because of all the material benefits to her of life in Canada.

"I think the right answer," she says, "is that the man should be happy in his work. He has to be the breadwinner for a good many years of his life and to be tied to a job and place he did not like would be purgatory. There are some words in the Bible that are worth remembering: 'Wither thou goest, I will go'—from the Book of Ruth, I think. I know that if my husband wanted to change his country and his job I would go with him. Keeping up with the Joneses has no appeal to me, but being a good friend to my husband has."

Most of the other letters were from English people living in Canada who said if only they were free of such things as Canada's terrible hospital bills and could afford it they would return to dear old England in a shot. I'm lucky. I get such letters only now and then. How bored Canadians at home must be with hearing that theme all the time.

Home 'Ec' Courses Face Cancellation

Students at Mount Douglas High School won't be able to take courses in home economics and industrial arts if the 1956 school building by-law is defeated next month.

A school board bulletin states today that for years Mount Douglas High students have been transported to Mount View, Lansdowne Junior High or Victoria High for these courses.

COSTLY SYSTEM

"It is costly to the ratepayers. It curtails the time which students can devote to these subjects and space now used for teaching Mount Douglas students in other schools will be taken over by pupils in these schools, as numbers increase therein."

"If an addition is not made to Mount Douglas High School, the students of that unit will be denied the opportunity of taking courses in home economics and industrial arts."

Greater Victoria ratepayers will vote on the $5,600,000 school building program at the December civic elections.

Proposed additions to the Mount Douglas unit will cost $274,900 for building, equipment, site and development. Proposed are four classrooms, one art room, one handroom, two industrial arts and two home economics rooms plus a folding partition in the gymnasium.

PTA NEWS

Bazaar Set At Burnside

Burnside School PTA will hold a bazaar in the school auditorium Wednesday at 2.30 p.m. There will be stalls of home cooking, candy, embroidery work, children's wear and knitted goods, aprons, novelties and white elephant. Afternoon tea will be served.

Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, will address the Cordova Bay PTA on Thursday at 8 p.m. The meeting will be held in the new activity room.

Willows PTA raised more than $1,000 at a bazaar in the school Friday night. Conveners for the affair were Mrs. Chris Moore and Mrs. C. F. Bowey. The bazaar was opened by school board chairman W. H. Golby.

Fathers' problems in disciplining their young sons will be discussed by David Dods, director of family and children's services in Victoria, at a meeting of the Langford PTA in the Legion Hall, Dunford Avenue, tonight at 8. PTA members and school staff will present a short play depicting some of these problems.

'Deep-Freeze' Woman Bears Healthy Son

NEWCASTLE, Eng. (AP)—An expectant mother who was unconscious for 169 days from a brain injury gave birth Sunday to a baby boy.

The child was born on the 23rd birthday of Mrs. Ellen Moore. Mother and son, who weighed seven pounds 12 ounces, were reported doing well.

Mrs. Moore was hurt May 4 while walking along a street near her home.

A 30-foot-long log flew off a truck and struck her on the head.

At one point physicians gave her a deep-freeze treatment, lowering her temperature to 12 degrees below normal.

For a week she remained in a virtual state of hibernation. Then she began to recover.

Even the Moon Wore Black for Battered Roughriders

By JIM McKEACHIE
(Special to the Times)

EDMONTON—Like the vodka that is sold in their opponents' native province, the Edmonton Eskimos left the Saskatchewan Roughriders breathless. After all—51-7. . . . And it was fitting when, three minutes into the final quarter of that rubber game of the WIFU final here Saturday night, the public address announcer drew the attention of the record 22,451 shivering fans in Clarke Stadium to the eclipse of the moon just starting. The score was 37-7 for Edmonton at the time, and the crowd welcomed the change of scene from the awesome sameness of the Eskimo machine smoothly rolling up points virtually without opposition.

The total eclipse of the Roughriders was almost complete. But it was a change to look up through a chill prairie sky at the other eclipse—except that a howling north wind blew more of the Stadium's cinder track into your eyes.

Two plays after the lunar announcement, Edmonton added another touchdown. That was the one that was set up when Rolfe Miles stood perfectly still and took a pass. From within the midst of the thermos throb in the stand, it seemed the nearest Saskatchewan player was no closer than the moon, so easy did that play—and countless others—look. Incidentally, Jackie Parker quarterbacked the pre-game drills, but Don Getty started—and stayed—in that spot.

The Edmonton dressing room buzzed with quiet conversation and congratulations after the game. It was fully half an hour after the final gun before the stragglers in the shower burst into song. Seems winning the big ones is old stuff to Pop Ivy's Eskimos. Besides, most of the players weren't thinking of the game just over, but of next Saturday's Grey Cup re-match with the Montreal Alouettes in Toronto.

Coach Ivy said little, except that he was proud of young Don Getty's quarterbacking and that he was waiting for Eagle Keys to return from scouting the Montreal-Hamilton game in Montreal Saturday afternoon. The only thing certain seemed to be that the Eskimos planned to fly east today.

Remarkable as it seems, the Riders' dressing room was the boisterous one. The explanation was that the Saskatchewan players had none of those post-game worries about one play or another being a turning point.

As Annis Stukus, who knows whereof he speaks and also writes (for a Vancouver journal), said: "It's when you lose by one point, or one touchdown that it bothers you."

Saskatchewan coach Frank Filchok reflected the club's attitude when he was asked what he considered to be the turning point.

"In the fourth quarter, it was 50-7," he said. "Third down and two yards to go—and Edmonton kicked that 51st point. That's the straw that broke our back."

Though they were disappointingly impotent Saturday night, the Saskatchewan players have a fine spirit. Giving the lie to stories which circulate from time to time of friction between the American imports and Canadians in the WIFU was the revelation that the 12 Roughrider imports had voted to give their $11,000 bonus ($3,500 for getting into the WIFU semis, $7,500 for making the finals), to the Canadian players and including the such behind-the-scenes people as the equipment man and trainer.

The sunny, calm day turned into a cruel night not only for the Roughriders, but also for the sell-out crowd. The first in the history of Clarke Stadium. The biting north wind blew steadily, often gusting to about 25 miles per hour. There was a near-continuous swirl of dirt and cinders across the snow-dusted field. Virtually every fan in the first 30 rows had a dirt-streaked face as a combination of wind, earth and, if you were from Saskatchewan, the game, kept tears streaming.

RE THE PEOPLE: About 800 Saskatchewan fans invaded Edmonton Saturday, whooped it up throughout the day. . . . A Regina man's faith in humanity slumped badly when, at 3 a.m. Sunday he sat dejectedly in the lobby of the MacDonald Hotel asking what things were coming to when the special trains pulled out on time. . . . "Whoever heard of such a thing?" he wondered. . . . A number of ex-Victorians were at the game. . . . Such as Bill Stephenson, ex-CKDA, now with a Vancouver station. . . . And Cam Perry, who was with CJVI now with an Edmonton station. . . . Jim Kearney, Vancouver Province football writer who started with this paper. . . . Big Lou Mogul, one-time Winnipeg Blue Bomber who was active in football in Victoria just after the war. . . . Allister MacDonald, a native son with his wife, the former Gwen Mann, also a Victorian. . . . Evan Potter, a product of Oaklands district, now managing Edmonton's major van line, Ted Reynolds, transplanted from CJVI to CBC television in Vancouver, wasn't at the Edmonton game, but has been selected to share the Grey Cup telecast next Saturday with Toronto's Steve Douglas.

Grey Cup Riddle: Getty or Parker

Canadian Quarterback Shines As Eskimos Wallop Roughriders

EDMONTON (CP)—As far as Frank Ivy is concerned, any speculation on who will be the Edmonton Eskimos' starting quarterback in Saturday's Grey Cup final at Toronto is nothing more than conjecture, but not even the wary Edmonton coach will deny that Canadian Don Getty has proven himself capable of it.

The 22-year-old Getty, second-year Eskimo from the University of Western Ontario and understudy in 1955 and most of this season to Jackie Parker, called a masterful game Saturday night as the defending Grey Cup champions trounced Saskatchewan Roughriders 51-7 to win the western football championship.

Getty threw 12 forward passes and with a solid line in front of him and sure-fingered receivers as targets, he completed 10 of them, including four for touchdowns.

IVY IS JUBILANT

"He played himself a terrific game," said Ivy in a jubilant Eskimo dressing room after the club had won a berth in the Canadian final for the third consecutive year.

For that matter, the entire Eskimo machine played itself a terrific game, displaying awesome power offensively and a defensive pattern that brought four important pass interceptions against Frank Tripucka. The victory Saturday night gave Eskimos their third-straight western title and their fourth in five years. For the third year in a row, they met Montreal Alouettes in the Canadian final, won by Eskimos the last two years.

Despite vicious tackling and rocking line play, neither club suffered serious injury in the contest. Eskimos came out of it with nothing worse than a few added bruises, despite the fact some players were in action on half-healed injuries from earlier games.

Parker, the Mississippi State graduate who as a halfback in 1954 and quarter in 1955 was a major cog in Eskimos' Grey Cup victories, was shifted to halfback for the last two games of the western final because of injuries to other Edmonton halves.

Saturday night he caught three Getty forward passes for touchdowns, the first going 17 yards, the second 20 and the third 24. Parker also punted for two singles for a 20-point night.

Fullback Johnny Bright got two touchdowns, plunging from nine yards out on the second play of the game to open the scoring, then crashing through the line for 21 yards to another score that gave Eskimos a 22-1 margin in the first quarter.

Maryland end Bill Walker got a touchdown and punted for a single. Fullback Normie Kwong, the Calgary-born China Clipper, smashed over centre for one yard to cap a 73-yard march. Oklahoma end Joe Mobra kicked six converts.

For Riders, Tripucka threw a 14-yard forward pass to veteran halfback Sully Glasser for a touchdown and guard Reggie Whitehouse got a single on a 25-yard placement attempt that went wide.

Als Oust Ti-Cats In Cliff-Hanger

MONTREAL (BUP)—The Grey Cup bound Montreal Alouettes were back to work mending their riddled fences today following Saturday's hair-raising, 48-41, victory over the Hamilton Tiger-Cats that gave them a 78-62 edge in the two-game, total-point series.

The Als, in typically exciting fashion, overcame numerous threats by a willing and game Hamilton team through a combination of explosive aerial fireworks and good breaks. The Tiger-Cats led in the game three times but were never able to overcome more than part of the nine-point margin the Alouettes carried into the game following Montreal's 30-21 victory in the first game the previous Saturday. Twice they shaved the Als overall lead to a mere three points and once, midway through the third quarter, they were only two points short of catching Montreal.

Each time the Alouettes managed to turn back the threat with a key defensive manoeuvre or an opportunistic penalty against Hamilton. Hal Patterson stopped Hamilton quarterback Tony Curcio on the one-foot line on the last play of the first half. Two questionable pass interference calls gave the Alouettes the ball inside the Hamilton six-yard line and an illegal interference ruling halted Hamilton within striking distance. In all, the Tigers were pushed back 69 yards compared with none by Montreal.

"If we got all the best of the officiating," said Montreal vice-president Ted Workman, "all I have to say is that it's about time. Actually I thought they (the officials) called a pretty good game. If they missed some calls against us then they missed just as many against Hamilton."

Hamilton captain Ed Bevan and halfback Hal Waggoner, who scored three times on passes from Curcio and gained 262 yards on eight pass receptions, lodged a verbal protest over the officiating. It concerned the illegal interference penalty which gave the ball to the Alouettes in the second quarter. However, the protest was not made official.

Workman, the 26-year-old boss of the Alouettes, said, however, that his colorful club would have to improve if they hoped to finally beat the Western champs.

Hamilton Officials Snipe at Referees

TORONTO (BUP)—Five officials who worked the Big Four football game at Montreal Saturday have threatened to resign in protest over the actions of Hamilton Tiger-Cat leaders.

Harry Bowden of Toronto said Sunday night that unless the Big Four takes disciplinary action against president Jake Gaudaur of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats and coach Tim Trimble, the officials will quit.

Gaudaur and Trimble were charged with abusing the officials in their room after Hamilton lost the game 48-41. "I think it's disgraceful," Bowden said. "It would be bad enough if they had come to complain about specific plays, but their suggestions were aimed at our characters."

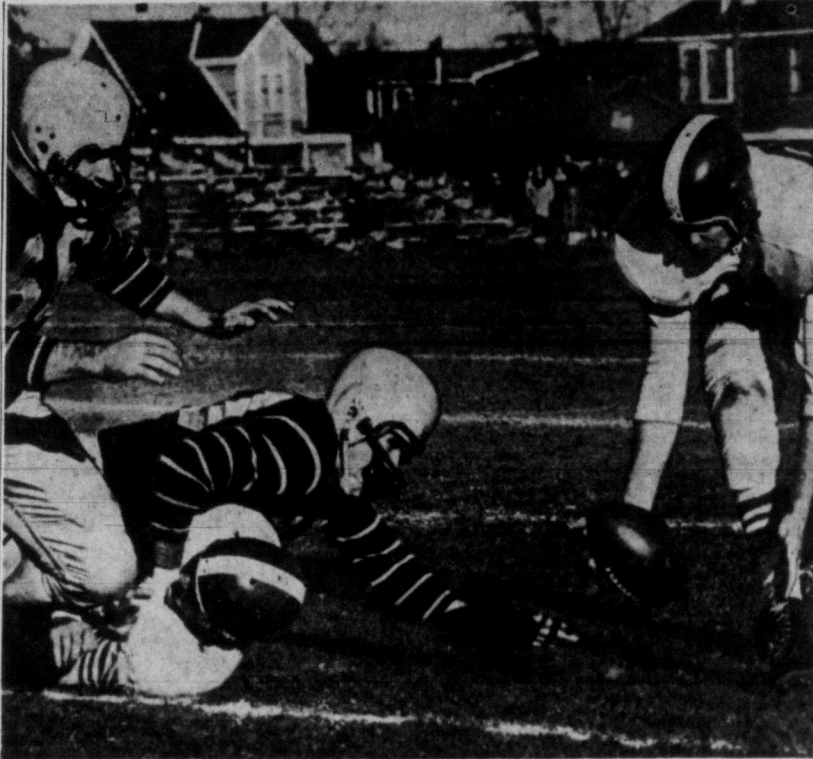

Bowden, who was referee, said Trimble asked to speak to him. "No one spoke," he said. "I was amazed to see them in the room. Then he walked over to me and said, 'Montreal Alouettes are too good a football club to require the services of five extra men.'"

"Then he said, 'You are a disgrace to Canadian football.' And then he asked how many penalties we had called. No one answered him so he said, 'I'm asking you, how many penalties? Do you intend to answer or haven't you the courage?'"

Bowden said he asked Trimble to leave the room and told him he did not wish to discuss the situation.

"Then Gaudaur stepped up," said Bowden. "He said, 'You've just heard an American—now listen to a Canadian. You fellows are . . .'" (Bowden said he couldn't repeat for publication what followed). Then I asked them again to leave the room and they left."

THAT'S THE WAY THE BALL BOUNCES

Dockers Flub Chance; Butlers Snare Second

Esquimalt flubbed a chance to climb within a single point of pace-setting Gorge Hotel in the Victoria and District Football Association Sunday and skidded into a third-place tie with Punjab United by dropping a 3-2 verdict to the Punjab club at Macdonald Park.

Butler Bros. took advantage of the Dockyarders' misfortune and vaulted into the runner-up spot by blanking Brodies' Bakery, 2-0, at Heywood Avenue.

At Central Park, Canadian Scottish broke out in a rash of goals to rack up its first league victory of the season, trimming Heaneys, 6-3.

LOSE CUP HOPES

Gorge, unbeaten in five league starts, was bounced out of the McGavin Cup competition at Royal Athletic Park Saturday, losing a 4-0 tussle with Tillicums as the clubmen came up with their first win of the season.

Henri Vanderhorst was the hero of the Punjab triumph as he rapped in the only goal of the second half to break a 2-2 deadlock.

Chris Brown and Al Hendrickson fired the other two United tallies while Keith Todd and Jake Blevins produced first-half markers for Esquimalt.

Butlers and Brodies battled through a scoreless first half before Dick Nettlestone and Ron Pearce fired the goals that gave Butlers their fourth win of the season.

Canadian Scottish collected five goals in the second half, three of them by Neil Standley, after being held to a 1-1 tie in the opening session. Archie Taylor, Ernie Eastlake and Walter Tate each scored once for the Scots.

Bill Burley, with two goals, and Nelson Crisp handled the scoring for Heaneys.

PLAY SHORT

Forced to play with 10 men after Don Hendry was banished for rough play with 10 minutes remaining in the first half, Gorge Hotel held out against a determined Tillicum attack until 25 minutes after the intermission.

Joe Gobet finally broke through the stubborn Gorge defence, then two goals by Ced Robb and a singleton by Tim Walker wrapped up the victory that moved Tillicums into a semifinal cup match against Butler Bros. Dec. 1.

Punjab and Brodies meet in the other semifinal Saturday at Royal Athletic Park.

PHONY OLYMPIC TORCH BURNS UP LORD MAYOR

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Sydney University students fooled the Lord Mayor and thousands of spectators Sunday night with a fake Olympic torch. Lord Mayor Patrick Hills was waiting on the steps of the town hall to greet the torch, which was being carried by runner to Melbourne, site of the Olympic Games.

A crowd of 30,000 cheered when the students trotted up and handed him a torch made from a silver-painted chair leg.

Hills clasped the torch and began his speech of welcome. Then he realized the silver paint was still sticky.

Wind Blows No Good For Button Defenders

Both the city open and junior golf buttons changed hands at Victoria Golf Club, Sunday, but they remained in the possession of Gorge Vale swingers.

John Carlow and Norm Boden failed in their second defence of the open pins as they took a 5-and-4 trimming from clubmates Art and Harry Donaldson.

Ted Bradshaw and Bill Holland lost in their first defence of the junior buttons, dropping a 2-and-1 decision to Roy Chappell and Jim McCall in another all-Gorge battle.

High winds at the Oak Bay course played havoc with scores and Boden and Carlow lost their chance to hold the lapel decorations when they dropped five successive holes to pars.

Art Donaldson's deadly iron shots helped the brother combination to a 4-up lead at the turn and the Donaldsons' went 5 up at the 10th with their fifth straight win in par figures.

They lost the 11th but got that one back at the next hole and closed out the wind-blown match by halving the next two holes.

Tillicums Ride High On Lance's Shoulders

Lance Rutherford continued his sizzling scoring pace in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association Sunday, scoring his 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th goals of the season to lead Tillicums to a 5-1 victory over Optimists, Division II leaders, at Carnarvon Park.

The lanky, centre forward rapped in three markers while Daryl McIntyre was collecting Optimists' lone tally to give the Division I pace-setters at 3-1 lead at the breather.

Another goal by Rutherford and a single marker by Ken Liebel completed the scoring as Tillicums took the rubber game of three matches between the clubs this season.

Another inter-divisional clash Sunday saw MacNutt's Grocery edge the still winless Division II

Colin Issues SOS As Axe Sharpened

Cougars Lose To Royals; Canucks Here

Hockey fans attending Rotary Hockey Night at Memorial Arena tonight may be seeing some of the Victoria Cougars for the last time.

For Cougar coach Colin Kilburn, following the team's 3-0 loss to New Westminster Saturday, its fourth in a row, contacted Boston Bruins' Lynn Patrick Sunday with a plea for help.

Kilburn wouldn't name the Cougars under the axe, but "I expect to have a few player problems solved by the end of the week."

His more immediate task tonight at 8.30 will be disposing of the Vancouver Canucks, who arrive owners of a three-game losing streak of their own incurred on a sweep through the Prairie division of the Western Hockey League.

LOSE IN OVERTIME

Canucks lost to Calgary Stampede, 4-3, in overtime Saturday, while Seattle Americans handed Brandon its first defeat of the season on home ice, 5-2, in the other WHL games.

The Cougars couldn't get untracked against a brilliant Bentley in the New Westminster goal Saturday. Bentley stopped 22 shots, most of them sizzlers in racking up his second shutout of the season.

Arnie Schmutz broke a scoreless deadlock at 13:07 of the second period for Royals, and they added two goals by rookie Denny Olson in the third to fashion the victory.

The game contained several rough spots, with Cougars' Beckett and Royals' Pete Durham tangling in the first period in the most notable affray. Both received majors for fighting, while Royals' Gordie Fashoway, lobbying around the outside of the argument, received two minutes for his participation.

At Calgary, Canucks blew a 3-1 lead entering the third period, and were only 63 seconds away from a 3-2 victory when Doc Couture scored for the Stampede.

Sid Finney wrapped things up for the Stampede after 22 seconds of overtime with his second goal of the game. Vancouver's Wiggle Wylie and Finney scored in the first for a 1-1 deadlock, and Phil Maloney and Mott McLean gave the Canucks their second-period edge.

Seattle called upon its third line at Brandon to snap the Regals' home streak. Rudy Filion, Bart Bradley and George Senick carried the mail this time. Senick scored two goals and one assist; Filion had a goal and an assist and Bradley picked up a goal and three assists for the Americans, solid leaders in the coast division of the league.

League-leading scorer Guyle Fielder counted Seattle's other goal while Elliott Chorley and Vic Lynn scored for Brandon. Americans scored once in the first and had a 4-0 lead entering the third period. They made it 5-0 before the Regals finally dented goaltender Emile Francis' armor.

Dutchies Win Again

KITCHENER (CP)—The injury-riddled Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen defeated London Lords 27-14 Saturday night to retain their Ontario Rugby Football Union senior crown.

The victory, before 3,000 fans, gave Dutchmen a 2-1 edge in the best-of-three final. They won the opener at London a week earlier and Lords took the second in Kitchener, Wednesday.

IOC BOSS CLAIMS

Olympic Idea Aid for Peace

MELBOURNE (AP)—Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympics Committee, today said the Olympic movement, without money or soldiers, can help stop warfare by setting examples of fair play and sportsmanship for politicians to follow.

Brundage spoke at the annual International Olympic Committee (IOC) meeting, opening phase of the 16th Olympiad Games. Competition runs from Thursday through Dec. 8.

Rumors circulated in Melbourne that several IOC members were trying to line up support either to censure Russia for its actions in Hungary or to expel the Russians entirely from the Olympic movement.

Several IOC members discounted the rumor and at least two others said that even if a discussion on expelling the Russians came up during the two-day IOC meeting it would fail to enlist widespread support.

Redskins Skid To 20-5 Loss In Grid Final

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Hamilton Tiger-Cat—Bees overcame a 4-0 first-quarter deficit Sunday to defeat Fort William Redskins 20-5 in a sudden-death final for the Canadian intermediate football championship.

Playing in intermittent drizzle on a muddy, greasy surface that hampered running plays and made passing difficult, Tiger-Cats rebounded with a touchdown in the second quarter and two more in the final.

George Grant kicked a field goal and a single for Fort William. Redskins' other point was on a kick to the end zone by Bob McKie.

Snipers Draw Bead On NHL Goaltenders

By The Canadian Press

Goal-scoring broke out madly in the National Hockey League during the weekend. And those baffling Boston Bruins maintained an unbeaten streak that is causing much bewilderment among the big-league teams.

Jack McIntyre, Chicago Black Hawks, four goals Saturday. Ted Lindsay, Detroit Red Wings, three, including the 300th of his 13-year NHL career, Sunday.

Gordie Howe, Detroit, two Saturday, two more Sunday.

Real Chevrefils, Boston, three Saturday, one Sunday.

The most amazing production came from McIntyre, 26-year-old right winger, who had registered only one assist in 15 games. He erupted for four goals as he led the last-place Hawks to a 6-3 victory over the Maple Leafs at Toronto. In other Saturday engagements, the Canadiens walloped the Wings 6-2 in Montreal and the Bruins and Rangers battled to a 4-4 draw in New York.

On Sunday, Wings clobbered Canadiens 8-3 at Detroit, Bruins edged Leafs 4-3 at Boston and the Rangers and Hawks deadlocked 2-2 at Chicago.

HAWKS HAVE EIGHT

When it was all over, Bruins were still in the league lead, holding a two-point edge over the second-place Wings. Canadiens are third with 19, while Leafs are fourth with 14. Rangers are next with 11 and Hawks are at the bottom of the standings with eight.

At Toronto, 13,000 customers saw McIntyre help Hawks to a 2-0 lead in the first period and then score the final three Chicago goals.

On Sunday Hawks picked up their tie against Rangers when Walley Hergesheimer, a New York castoff, scored in the final period before 8,638 fans.

Andre Pronovost fired two goals as Canadiens breezed to their win over Detroit before a crowd of 14,475 at Montreal Forum.

HOWE FIRES BOTH

Howe got both Detroit goals and the Montrealers spread their other four among Doug Harvey, Claude Provost, Henri Richard and Dick Moore.

It was a different story in Detroit Sunday night as Lindsay spearheaded Wings to the most lopsided victory of the current campaign.

Howe got a pair of goals, while Billy McNeill, Dutch Reibel and Red Kelly added singles. Rocket Richard, Provost and Jean Beliveau tallied for Canadiens.

Venture in Second Grid Trophy Win

(Venture 15, Royal Roads 7)

HMCS Venture added the Tommy Douglas Trophy to its wardrobe Sunday by defeating Royal Roads, 15-7, in the playoff final of the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League.

It was the second cup the sailors had acquired within a week. Last Monday, they rumpled over the same Royal Roads squad, 38-15, to win the Hibbard Trophy.

Sunday, a rock-ribbed Venture line kept the Cadets contained throughout the game. Royal Roads only managed 130 yards along the ground and 78 through the air and were held scoreless after an early touchdown.

Venture, on the other hand, rolled for 32 first downs and 239 yards rushing. Bill Hewson bulled over for Royal Roads' only major, and Ian Roussac converted to give the Cadets a brief 7-0 lead. Two plays later, Nash went 35 yards for a Venture touchdown.

Convert was missed, but before the first half ended, Truran kicked two singles that gave Venture an 8-7 lead.

Truran added another single in the third quarter and Venture completed the scoring with an unconverted touchdown in the final period with Ron Forsythe going over from the four-yard line.

Thunderbirds Whip Vikings

Victoria's hopes of winning the annual McKechnie Cup inter-city rugby series appear far from bright.

Meeting Mainland opponents for the first time this season Saturday, two first division Victoria Rugby Union sides went down to one-sided defeats.

University of B.C. Thunderbirds, striking for 25 points in the opening half, romped to a 44-3 triumph over Victoria College Vikings at Windsor Park, and Oak Bay Wanderers absorbed a 21-8 lacing from Meralomas at Vancouver's Brockton Point pitch.

Jim, Vic High Divide Honors

Victoria High School won the team championship at the annual Royal Roads invitational race on Saturday, but the real triumph went to Jim Moore of the University of British Columbia.

Moore loped over the rugged 4.2 mile course in 20 minutes, 34 seconds to establish a new record for the route as he led a field of 65 runners to the finish line.

In the second place was teammate Jack Burnett, last year's winner, while Ian Fraser was the first Vic High runner to finish in third spot.

Other teams to finish were in order, UBC, HMCS Venture, HMCS Naden and Vic High "B" team.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Mark Elfer, aged 10, of San Diego, Calif., for his question:

How Do Birds Fly?

The flight of a bird is one of the wonders of nature. Man-kind watched, wondered, envied and studied the flying birds long before he built a machine that could take to the air. Each bird has its own style of flying. The partridge takes off with a whirl of wings, the owl swoops in silence. The swan uses his feet to launch himself from the water. The flicker flies on short, swing wing beats, the gull glides without effort and the eagle soars in lazy circles.

The principles of flight, however, are the same for all birds. Flight is the mastery of the air. A bird uses the air much as a fish uses the water. He moves it this way and that, piling it up in cushions to lift him aloft, piercing it to let himself through. To us, used to the solid ground, the air is a filmy nothing. To a bird, this filmy stuff can be used to hold his light body above the ground.

The bird's body is built for flight. It is light and streamlined. The heaviest part is the chest. Here are the powerful muscles that work the beating wings. They are fixed onto a breast bone shaped like a ship's keel. This gives the whole body a streamlined, forward motion when cutting through the filmy air in flight.

Apart from those chest muscles, the rest of the bird's body is as light as possible. The bones are light and slender and the large ones contain hollows filled with air. There are still larger air pockets in the body of the bird. They connect with the lungs. The bird can take in extra oxygen and lighten himself at the same time.

Most important are the feathers, each one a miracle of tiny filaments growing from a hollow quill. The feathers of a flying bird are wind proof and water proof. The filaments lock together with thousands of tiny barbs. The water-proofing is done with oily brillantine which the bird applies to his feathers as he preens.

READY FOR ADOPTION:

Two pups—and you'd better hurry—seven weeks old, coal black, round and fat as butter balls. Mother is purebred setter but...

Nearly as young, and still a playful puppy, is smoky. Only nine weeks old, a black almost spaniel.

Bing is 90 per cent Dalmatian, handsome in black and white, a good doggie in every way with one exception... he chases cattle. If you don't have any cows in your back yard, Bing's for you.

With a black shiny coat and a handsome head, Rastus is a decorative combination of Labrador and setter. Very good with children.

Och, ay, and here's a bonnie doggie—black and brown Scotch collie. Treve is the name, age 3½ years, very patient with children and a good watchdog.

Short-haired terrier type, male, three years old. Name's Fatsy, but he isn't really.

Light brown spaniel, spayed, two years old, good with kids. Ask for Randy.

Two pups—brother and sister—only 11 weeks old, but so sturdy they look older. Labrador and cocker spaniel heritage.

An 11-weeks spaniel pup, young and cuddly, not even old enough to have a name of her own unless you'd like to give her one.

Lady is a gentle, friendly and dainty border collie, six months. Inclined to be a little shy.

A very handsome dog with a shiny golden coat is Rusty, a cocker spaniel. Male, 18 months; a dandy dog.

Orson Welles Returns In Jeep Style Film

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After an absence of seven years, Orson Welles is back before the Hollywood film cameras as fat and sassy as ever.
Welles has returned in "Pay the Devil" with Jeff Chandler, Chandler the sheriff.
"But it's not really a western," Welles cautioned. "It's a modern story, and there isn't a horse in the whole picture. We ride over the countryside in Jeeps.

"I'm not really playing a heavy—just a man who doesn't want to do bad things, but is forced into them by circumstances. That's what interested me in the role."
Plainly evidencing a losing battle with the calories, Welles talked of television.
"With few exceptions, dramas come off poorly on TV. I realize the limitations of time and money, but I can't stand to watch dramas which are little better than dress rehearsals. It's like summer theatre all year long," he said.

Ulanova, dancing in London last month.

SPRAINED A TENDON

Soviet Ballerina Collapses on Stage

MOSCOW (AP)—Galina Ulanova, prima ballerina of the Bolshoi Theatre ballet, pulled a tendon and collapsed on stage Saturday night while dancing the title role in Giselle.

Ulanova had just completed a second act solo when she crumpled to the floor. The performance continued with Raisa Struchkova replacing Ulanova. It was Ulanova's first appearance here in Giselle since the Bolshoi troupe's London engagement last month. She is 46.

After dancing spectacularly in the first act, Ulanova reappeared in the second act but after only five minutes appeared to sink down near the wings.
The curtain was run down and the theatre lights went on. A gasp went up from the audience and some women began to cry.
The company director appeared 15 minutes later and said Ulanova would not be able to dance for four or five days.

A tremendously moving story of war-time Britain and a man, who, because of his views, becomes a potential deserter from the army; and a woman who believes in her country. Perhaps particularly applicable to our critical times. Supported by a powerful cast, this is the first and only time these two stars have been co-starred together. Very good entertainment.

Canadian's Recital 'Astounding,' Says New York Critic

NEW YORK (CP) — Canada's Glenn Gould gave a New York recital at the Grace Rainey Rogers Auditorium, Friday night, and the youthful Toronto pianist's performance is hailed by one critic as "astounding."

The recital "would have been remarkable if it had come from a veteran artist in his mature middle years," says the Herald Tribune. "Coming from a 23-year-old, it was astounding."

Gould's program, made up of works by Bach, Krenek and Hindemith, "displayed these attributes functioning at a high level," the critic adds.

YOU'VE HEARD ABOUT ANTI-ENZYME ACTION! IT'S NEWS!

AMM-I-DENT ANTI-ENZYME ACTION GIVES YOU A DECAY BARRIER

The big news in dental care is anti-enzyme action. Amm-i-dent's formula brings you anti-enzyme action to provide you with a decay barrier around each and every tooth in your mouth.

Now brushing with Amm-i-dent Toothpaste protects teeth all day long with its enzyme inhibiting action.

Think what this means. Not only can you assure yourself and your family of bright clean teeth—now you can have the advantage of the decay barrier resulting from the anti-enzyme action provided in Amm-i-dent Toothpaste.

The Invisible Decay Barrier! Amm-i-dent's major anti-enzyme ingredient stays in the mouth, acts continually.

New Hope for Security from Tooth Decay came first with Amm-i-dent's ammoniated formula. Now morning and evening brushing protects your teeth all day.

NEWEST D.O.T. 'BABY' MEETS 44-YEAR-OLD VETERAN

Forty-four years separate CGS Sir James Douglas, left, lightship tender commissioned last week, and veteran workhorse of Department of Transport here, CGS Estevan, right, built in 1912. Sir James Douglas is to replace CGS Berens, being withdrawn from service after 35 years supplying lighthouses, installing and repairing navigation aids on this coast; present indications are the Estevan will go on forever. The new tender, a compact, highly-maneuvrable ship powered by twin diesels driving two propellers, will start work this week after final gear is installed and tested. Ships are shown at D.O.T. wharf, Inner Harbor. (Times Photo by Halkett.)

BETWEEN TIMES

By

MONTE ROBERTS

Ah, the wonder of it all... Wonder if the QORs will come back home to Victoria... wonder how many of the QOR wives feel the same way as the lady who phoned me awhile back... she called to raise (shall I say) objections to a brief item in this space... which, I might say was meant in the greatest of good nature and good fellowship to the QORs and accepted that way by most of them... but to get back to the QOR wife who phoned... she said Victoria is a dreadful city for a serviceman's family... apparently can hardly wait to move... wonder how many other service wives would agree with this quote "Victoria is a beautiful city but it has no heart..."

Wonder if something couldn't be done to encourage the preservation of the vacant lot... wonder if the vacant lot is really doomed and if this is necessarily so... wonder if there mightn't be a direct connection between the reduction in number of vacant lots and the rising graph of juvenile delinquency... I refer, of course, to vacant lots as delightful sanctuaries, decorated with attractive emptiness the drab monotony of houses and buildings marching row and row... these vacant lots did more to keep mischievous boys out of mischief than Lord Baden Powell... if you're old enough, you'll remember these vacant lots... usually referred to by neighboring householders as eyecores... the ideal vacant lot came equipped with a treasure trove of empty tin cans, tangled, weedy underbrush, a patch of salal berries, and a fallen tree trunk... a few saplings and a mature tree or two were acceptable but not necessary... this kind of disreputable, untidy vacant lot could keep any boy pleasantly and harmlessly occupied for hours... and it can never be replaced by the antisepetic supervision of the finest playground... wonder if anybody wants to join a society for the restoration of the right of every small boy to live near a vacant lot?...

Wonder when someone will suggest that Victoria should become a little bit of old Afghanistan in an effort to attract tourists... Sam Lane is just back from a trip saying we must retain the truly British atmosphere so we can attract tourists... wonder why we couldn't cultivate a truly Afghanistana atmosphere instead... not that I have anything against Britain or for Afghanistan... it's just that, if we're going to be something we're not, let's make a good job of it... and another thing, there are so few places in the world, outside of Afghanistan, which look typically Afghanistana... most of all, I understand they have yaks in Afghanistan... that's what this troubled world needs, more yaks... especially around this space... Any of you chaps former members of the Afghanistan C.C.?

A 16-year-old youth was captured in a stolen car early today after a chase by city police through downtown streets at speeds up to 85 miles an hour.

Police started after the car at Yates and Quadra, chased it down to Government Street and then out along Government, through a number of red lights, to Dallas Road. The car was finally forced over to the side of the road at Erie Street.

Police said the youth had arrived in Victoria from Toronto three days ago.

First series races in the 1956-57 frostbite schedule were held at Victoria Yacht Club Sunday. Only four races were run off in the face of high winds.

In the Davidson (open) Class, Harry Barnes finished first in both races; Harry Gladwell second in both races.

In the Sabot (junior) Class, Chris Scott scored two wins, while Bob Smith and Bob Sweatnam each had one second and one third.

VIENNA STAFF INCREASE

Pickersgill Plans For Hungary DP's

There is as yet "no great rush" of Hungarians applying for immigration to Canada on the heels of strife in Hungary, Immigration Minister Jack Pickersgill said here today. "At last word we had between 50 and 100 who have applied" following Canada's offer to take refugees, he said. "We don't expect a very large number, at least for awhile," the minister said.

However, steps are being taken now to increase the department's staff in Vienna to handle any increased flow. The first refugees arrived in Montreal this weekend. (See page 3). Under the plan to assist Hungarians, they can apply for assisted passage loans from Canada, but must be able to work here or have someone who will look after them.

"But we expect no trouble in their getting jobs here," Mr. Pickersgill said. He said he had been approached by several Hungarian national groups which said they would assist their countrymen in job placements.

Crash Victim Recovering

A 63-year-old woman, seriously injured in the same accident in which another woman was killed in a downtown crosswalk Friday, was reported in slightly improved condition in St. Joseph's Hospital today.

Mrs. Leona Daniels, 941 Cloverdale, was listed as in "fairly good" condition with arm, leg and head injuries. She was injured when hit by a truck at the intersection of Douglas and Herald Streets.

In the same accident, Mrs. Gracie White, 58, of 429 Quebec, was killed, and her husband, William Harold White, 67, injured.

Mr. White was in satisfactory condition today with fractured ribs and abrasions. An inquest into the accident will be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at McCall Bros.

Two men captured in a Yates Street bowling alley early Saturday were sentenced in city police court today to three years' imprisonment for breaking and entry.

Thomas Norish and Richard Gray both admitted a number of previous convictions for similar offences.

The pair were found in the Capital City Bowldrome, 966 Yates, at 4 a.m., Saturday. They had used a screw-driver to pry open a rear window.

Three thousand provincial government employees in the Greater Victoria area will decide this week if they wish to contribute to the Community Chest and other charities by payroll deduction.

Victoria branch of the B.C. Government Employees' Association is conducting a referendum among its members asking if they wish to ask the provincial government to set up the machinery for making these deductions.

"Ballot forms have been circulated," L. G. Huck, branch president, said today, "and we hope the result of the referendum will be known by the end of this week."

Mr. Huck said a number of charitable organizations, including the Community Chest and the Red Cross, have said they would welcome pledges by payroll deduction from government employees.

Pledge forms were received from 1,126 employees totalling $4,893. Last year 834 employees contributed a total of $3,743.

Landfill Garbage Plan for Thetis

Council Votes On Thursday

By PETE LOUDON
Victoria city council will vote Thursday on a proposal to end sea-dumping of garbage and institute instead a three- and a-half-year program of sanitary landfill in Thetis Lake Park.

The program depends on council agreement to a capital expenditure of $72,500 in the 1957 budget—a proposal which could be a lively election issue. While the current council is felt to favor the scheme, its ultimate adoption will be up to the new council which could have as many as five new members.

A previous attempt to launch a sanitary landfill program (in Topaz Park area) failed after opposition from nearby residents.

The $72,500 expenditure would be for three new garbage trucks, a bulldozer and an incinerator. Over the three-year term of the operation costs would rise by at least $18,000 annually for garbage disposal, by adopting the Thetis plan, City Engineer J. C. Garnett stated.

The garbage committee, headed by Ald. M. H. Mooney and including Ald. Geoffrey I. Edgewood and Ald. Arthur Dowell, support the plan as a means of ending the problem of floating garbage in Victoria offshore waters, and the fouling of local beaches.

Ald. Edgewood felt the over-all cost would be reduced as the plan became workable.

"The idea is to educate the public to the benefits of the landfill style of garbage disposal," he stated.

He said the area to be filled, a swampy section of the park where the public cannot now visit, would be reclaimed for park use. Then the committee should search for other areas. Mud Bay flats and Goldstream flats were suggested.

The new incinerator would replace a decrepit installation at the garbage wharf, where garbage might continue to be collected. But from there the trucks would haul to the park. Bulldozers would cover the garbage daily in a large trench. Under the system there would be no rotting nor odor problem, it was stated earlier.

ALF CHADWICK 87 TODAY

Pioneer Recalls Chain Gangs Here

By PETER MURRAY
As a boy, Alfred Chadwick used to shoot marbles with his chums on what is now Victoria's busiest downtown intersection.

Today, a true pioneer of the city, he is celebrating his 87th birthday.

With his wife, Mr. Chadwick is spending the day quietly at their home at 2528 Graham.

A good boxing match on TV if he can find one or a game of crib will take up some of his time. Mr. Chadwick's health is still good and he finds he needs eyeglasses only in the evenings. And he still enjoys an occasional cigar.

Mr. Chadwick was born in a house on the south side of Yates between Douglas and Broad. His parents had sailed around the Cape from the Old Country in 1858, the year British Columbia came into being. His father ran the old Inter-

FIRE CAUSES $1,000 DAMAGE IN VACANT VICTORIA HOUSE

Fire caused an estimated $1,000 damage Sunday morning to the basement of a vacant house at 1322 Ivy Place.

City firemen confined the blaze to the basement and partition above in an hour-long fight. Cause of the fire is not known.

Owner of the house is G. Vantreight, 4423 Tyn-dall.

Another fire in the hallway of the Glen Court, 702 Blanshard, which started in a box of rubbish was quickly extinguished by firemen after causing slight damage to paintwork and a window frame.

Smith Hat in Ring For Council Seat

Sworn in Today as Sacred MLA; Seeks Pinfold's One-Year Term

Victoria Alderman J. Donald Smith today announced he will seek re-election next month to a one-year term on city council.

If elected, he will serve in the dual role of alderman and member of the Legislature. He was elected as MLA Sept. 19 on a Social Credit platform. He was sworn into office this morning.

Ald. Smith is asking election to complete the one-year term opened to contest by the resignation of Ald. W. F. Pinfold. Ald. Smith said his only reason for asking a further term on council (his fourth) is to complete his duties on a council committee investigating inequalities in trade licensing.

FINISH JOB
"It was not my intention to continue on council, but I seem to have no choice but to continue for another year and finish the job I have undertaken, which should have been completed by now. I would feel very guilty walking out on the trade licence enquiry before a proper report is brought in and charges made."

"If I were to leave council I am quite sure the whole project would be shelved, and that just can't happen. The discrepancies must be adjusted and the balance of fees collected from the larger firms."

"This will mean a great deal to the taxpayers who are in fact the same people I represent in the provincial government. I will always fight in the best interests of the people of Victoria regardless which level of government is concerned, be it civic, provincial or federal."

He said he opposes further sale of city assets, and is opposed to mill rate increases as long as the "mayor and council

Burglars Steal Silverware From City Warehouse

Silverware valued at $150 was taken by thieves who broke into Stocker's Warehouse, 776 Topaz, over the weekend.

The silverware was made up of a number of miscellaneous items to be delivered today for Birk's Jewellers.

They were taken from the warehouse dispatch office which had been entered by forcing a side window.

Another break-in at the Vancouver Barge warehouse at 1102 Wharf yielded thieves a number of electric train sets.

Police said a brace and bit had been used to drill a 14-inch hole in a door on the west side of the shed.

CHEK-TV On Air December 1

By PHIL LEE
Times TV Editor

Local television station CHEK-TV will go on the air Saturday, Dec. 1. It was announced today by Charles R. White, station manager.

It is likely the station will broadcast test patterns by the end of this week or first of next, when extent of interference with the neighboring Seattle Channel 5 will be known.

Theorists believe those homes closest to the site of CHEK-TV's combined studio and transmitter at 3693 Espom Drive, Saanich, will be the hardest hit.

Originally CHEK-TV officials hoped to come on the air with a splash this Saturday by bowing to the local audience with a live broadcast of the Grey Cup game from Toronto. However, delay in building construction and receiving the transmitter and antenna from the U.S. has made this nearly impossible.

Mr. White said that the transmitter from Seattle arrived today, together with the antenna.

At the site, cameras and projectors are installed and actually running on a closed circuit—but within the limits of the building only. The 175-foot tower is up. All that has to be done now is installation of the transmitter and erection of the antenna atop the tower.

ROTARY HOCKEY NIGHT MAY BE SELL-OUT HOUSE

Possibility that Victoria Cougars may play to their first sell-out house in a year was evident today, as ticket sales were counted for "Rotary Hockey Night" at presstime.

At 10 a.m. Lester Patrick reported almost 4,000 seats sold. Of these, 700 had been Rotary tickets turned in, with another 1,500 to be heard from. Monies taken after the first 3,000 fans will be devoted to Rotary Club charities.

Playing coach Colin Kilburn announced that the "Gold Dust" line of McCauley-Kilburn-Anderson would be reunited for tonight's game against the Vancouver Canucks. Tickets will be available at the Arena box office from 7:30 p.m. on, with high hopes of a sell-out.

SHOPPING GUIDE

'Drain Doctor' Fixes Sinks Without Fuss and Bother
By PENNY SAVER

Drains in the kitchen or bathroom sink clogged? What you need is the "drain doctor." A length of flexible, closely coiled wire has on one end a wooden handle. Push the coil down the drain, give it a twist or two, and your drains will be cleared. Think of the plumbing bills you'll save! There should be one in every kitchen, and I'm sure the housewives who have battled clogged sinks will agree with me. They're yours for the small price of 39 cents.

In most homes there is at least one flashlight that is deemed useless because of a broken lens. Rather than buy a whole new flashlight, the logical thing to do is to replace the lens. I know where you can buy lenses in three different sizes for only 10 cents each.

A scarf to keep ears, head and neck warm are the soft and luxurious ones I've found. They are men's scarves. Women's scarves, I've discovered, aren't wide enough to be worn over the head, but men's scarves are just the right size. The scarf ends can be tossed over either shoulder or tucked inside your coat or jacket. Tartans and solid colors in kitten-soft cashmere are yours for $5. Incidentally, these scarves would also be a good gift for a man on your Christmas list.

Dogs and cats that are the favored "members" of your household will look and feel better as a result of this "gift" idea. Collars of brown leather are lined with a soft quilting.

An accompanying ointment that is to be rubbed on the lining is a flea killer. For your pups, the collars are $2.98. For the cats, there are red, brown or blue leather collars inset with red "jewels." These, too, come with the ointment, and are the same price. Braided colored string collars that are treated with an ointment may also be bought. They come in a variety of colors and sizes, and are just 49 cents.

For the young man in the family, here's a sturdy pocket watch that has a non-rust chrome case. It will take many a knock and fall, and will serve him well. The price is right, too, at $2.99.

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to find the items mentioned here in the column.

Colorful Decorations At St. Andrew's Bazaar

Guests at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church bazaar, Saturday afternoon, found colorful, hand-made Christmas decorations to display in their homes during the festive season. Mrs. F. A. Lindsay, in charge of proceeds, announced the sum of $900 was raised at the affair, which featured a wide variety of stalls for the shoppers. Afternoon tea was served.

Mrs. C. C. Wyatt opened the affair, which was convened by Mrs. F. W. Briers. Tea conveners were Mrs. C. W. Paulin, and tea hostess, Mrs. C. C. Warren.

Assisting in serving and in the kitchen were Mrs. T. Taylor, Mrs. D. Scott, Mrs. R. Robertson, Mrs. R. Armstrong, Mrs. Jolly, Mrs. Myrtle Hirst, Miss Gladys Irving, Mrs. R. Morrison, Mrs. D. Fairbairn, Mrs. D. McPherson, Mrs. F. G.

VON Works With New Senior Citizens' Bureau

In her report given at the board meeting, Miss E. Riddell, district director of the Victoria Order of Nurses, said that the VON is co-operating with Glen Hamilton, director of the newly formed Senior Citizens' Bureau, to meet some of the needs and give more complete care to their patients and families.

Miss Riddell also reported that her nurses were caring for over 200 patients each month and that total visits to patients during the month of October totaled 1,970.

The report showed that Miss Riddell had taken part in a panel discussion on public health services of Greater Victoria at St. Joseph's Hospital and that a class on prenatal services had been given for Royal Jubilee Hospital students.

It was announced that VON canvassers had collected over $3,000 in the Community Chest drive, an increase of $500 over last year. It was also reported that nurses will receive an increase in sick benefits: 12 days the first year; 15 days thereafter accumulative up to 90 days.

Other reports were given by Mrs. W. Findlay, provincial VON delegate L. deS. Duke, motors.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If Your Feet Trouble You, Here's What You Can Do

Our feet fall heir to many conditions which may cause us discomfort. Sometimes these can be very painful. Even tired feet can make us weary just as eye strain can.

Weak arches give many people trouble. Sometimes a person is born with these but often originally strong arches are sabotaged because of overweight, incorrectly-fitted shoes or an occupation which keeps you on your feet most of the day. These are the main offenders.

You may be able to avoid the penalties of weak arches if you take special arch exercises, use more care in the selection of your shoes, lose overweight, and rest with your feet up whenever possible. If the condition is severe you should see a podiatrist or chiropodist. The following is a splendid exercise for the arches.

Sit on the floor with your legs resting on the floor in front of you, knees stiff. Lean back on your hands. Point both toes hard. Hold for a few moments and relax. Continue.

Bunions make many folks miserable. This is an inflammation of the sac around the joint of the big toe. You should see a podiatrist since this requires skilled care. Shoes which are too short or too pointed will cause bunions.

Perspiring feet are another source of discomfort. Diseased sweat glands, illness, nervousness or emotional tensions may be the reason. This can be most annoying since excessive perspiration irritates the skin and may cause tenderness.

If you have this trouble you should bathe your feet twice a day. You will find cool foot baths helpful. If you add a tablespoon of alum to the foot bath it will discourage perspiration. Always dust the feet with powder before putting on your stockings or socks. Of course it is important to try to remedy, or control, the factors which cause this unhappy state.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 14 which gives exercises for the arches, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

About recital and gift: We have received a formal invitation to an afternoon piano recital. It is being presented by a young woman, a college student, and will be followed by an open house at the home of her parents. Is it our duty to present her with a gift?

Louise Davis answers: I see no reason why you should present the musician with a gift. The nicest gift, and one which you can't buy, would be your sincere praise for the playing and the program. Following it up with a note later would be a good idea, too. If you would like to send something, a bouquet of flowers would be appropriate.

Christmas Bazaar At Cordova Bay

The Woman's Auxiliary to Cordova Bay United Church will hold a Christmas bazaar on Wednesday afternoon from 2 until 5 p.m. Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett will officially open the affair at 2:30 p.m. There will be many stalls including home cooking, fancywork and aprons, Christmas novelties, mystery parcels and white elephant. Afternoon tea will be served under convenership of Mrs. M. Woodward, Mrs. A. C. Lefler and Miss P. M. Hendrie.

HERBS IN THE HOME

Parsley Makes Good Herb Butter for Tasty Broiled Fish

By PATRICIA RAE

Seeing a huge bed of parsley in a friend's garden one day I tried to find out a few other ways of using it other than parsley-sauce or parsley-honey. From my herb scrapbook I learned that parsley is used in soups, cream cheese spreads, fish-chowder, with mushrooms and particularly with carrots.

Here's a very simple recipe which should be popular:

Herb Butter With Broiled Fish: One-quarter cup butter, 1 tablespoon lemon-rind, ¼ teaspoon each of chopped basil, chervil, parsley and a few chives. (If you haven't a lemon, lemon-thyme or lemon-balm from the garden, make quite good stand-ins). Cream butter until soft. Add lemon-peel; blend well; add herbs. Spread on broiled fish while very hot.

CHERVIL

A pleasant and easy-to-grow second cousin to parsley is "the jovial chervil," which has rather a subtle flavor and goes well with tarragon. Chervil is an annual, which grows quickly, and can be cut about a month after sowing. It self-sows readily, so once you have it in the garden, it will reappear! Chervil goes particularly well with fowl, but can also be used in salads, stews, cold jellied dishes and with fish. It is nice with parsnips. When making soup, small "pulses" of chervil are dipped into the soup-pot, whilst it is still simmering, and then removed a few minutes later. Chervil is often used in "Bouquet Garni" to replace parsley.

Have you tried glazed carrots (cooked in brown sugar) and a little chopped mint? Mint in lemon-drinks?

MINT SAUCE

Apple-mint (which I have told you about) is supposed to be the proper mint for mint sauce, but I prefer to use it in apple sauce when serving pork. Winter or everlasting mint, with nasturtium leaves makes a good, strong mint sauce. There are over a dozen mints you could use, according to taste.

CRYSTALLIZED MINT

So tasty and easy to make. Another pretty idea is to decorate your mint jellies with leaves of candied mint, and for a party, line a small crystal dish

Babies Woollens Wash Softer in ZERO!

No matter how often those precious babies woollens are washed with gentle ZERO Cold Water Soap, they'll always remain soft and bright as new, never shrink or mat. ZERO softens water too! 59¢ package does 50 washings, 98¢ package over 100. At your local drug, grocery and wool shops. For free sample write Dept. 2, ZERO Soap, Victoria, B.C.

Mint Butter: A handful of mint leaves and a handful of parsley. Boil slowly for 45 minutes in as little water as possible. Drain and rub pulp through sieve. Work into 4-oz. butter until smooth. Add pepper or cayenne.

Mint Pasty: Equal quantities of brown sugar, currants, chopped mint and a leaf or two (young) of tansy. Use as a filling in a turnover instead of apple. Very popular in Yorkshire.

BEAUTIFUL CHILDREN . . . BY HOUSEZ

This week's layout of Greater Victoria's future citizens leads off with Barbara Elizabeth Abel, shown in picture No. 1. Barbara, who is two years old, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Abel, 1368 Hampshire Road. Nancy Jane, age eight, and Judith Ann, 10 years old, are seen in picture No. 2.

They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Connason, 789 St. Patrick Street. The two boys shown in picture No. 3 are George Kane and Lawrence Douglas Straith, two years and three-and-a-half years old, respectively. George and Lawrence are sons of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Straith Jr., and live at 330 Denison Road. (A Victoria Daily Times Feature.)

Supreme Head Of Royal Purple Lodge Visits Here

Mrs. Marguerite Robertson, Vancouver, Supreme Honored Royal Lady of the Order of Royal Purple, make an official visit to Victoria Lodge No. 5 last week. She was welcomed by Mrs. S. Begg, head of the local lodge, and presented with a gift.

Mrs. J. Mackie, trustee of the Victoria lodge, and Mrs. R. Sheard, head of Lake Cowichan Lodge, were also officially received. Other visitors were welcomed from Whitehorse, Vancouver, Kelowna and Toronto.

Two new members were initiated and Mrs. Robertson presented Mrs. M. Jackson, past honored Royal Lady, with her 15-year pin. Mrs. Robertson has been a member of the order for 17 years in New Westminster and Victoria.

Plans were made for a bazaar to be held on Nov. 30 in the Elks Home and a buffet supper was served under convener-ship of Mrs. May McBride, assisted by Mrs. Pearl Evang.

Victoria Purple Star Lodge, No. 104, LOBA, Orange Hall, Wednesday at 7.30 p.m. Election of officers.

City Tug Races To Save Seaman Salvage Mission Interrupted As Sudbury Crewman Stricken

The Victoria deepsea salvage tug Ss. Sudbury today completed a two-and-one-half-day mercy mission through heavy gales to take one of her crewmen to medical aid at Adak, U.S. Navy base in the Aleutian Islands.

The seaman, Harry Tebb, 38, of 5640 West Saanich Road, showed dangerous signs of appendicitis last Friday.

Capt. Harley Blagborne of the Sudbury established contact with the U.S. Coast Guard at Adak, and the coast guard medical officer wirelessly detailed instructions for treatment.

But as the Sudbury's wireless cracked out reports on Tebb's symptoms, the coast guard doctor wirelessly back:

"Take no chances. Only solution bring him here for treatment."

The Sudbury was then about 500 miles from Adak, headed for the crippled U.S. freighter Thunderbird, drifting without a propeller in mid-Pacific.

She changed course early Saturday morning to buck into the teeth of midwinter Pacific storms. The powerful tug reached Adak at 4 a.m. today and Tebb was carried ashore for treatment and possible operation by the coast guard doctor.

The Sudbury left almost immediately to resume her 2,500-mile steaming from Japan to the side of the disabled freighter.

CONTACT WEDNESDAY
Officials of Island Tug & Barge Ltd., owners of the Sudbury, hope the meet will be made Wednesday, when the long tow into Seattle will commence.

The Thunderbird has drifted south and east from her first reported position, about 2,000 miles west of Cape Flattery. At present she is out of the main storm area.

The Sudbury's mercy run is reminiscent of a mission she carried out a year ago while proceeding to the aid of the freighter Ss. Makedonia on what became the longest salvage tow in Pacific history.

At that time Sudbury's radio operator kept 24-hour watch relaying messages from Adak's medical officer for treatment of a sick child on a lonely Aleutian outpost.

The Sudbury's owners today expressed high praise for the co-operation of the U.S. Navy and Coast Guard in providing medical advice, and care for the sick seaman.

Tebb is married and has two young daughters. At present time no late report on his condition had been received.

Knocked to the pavement by a youth who stole her purse containing 40 cents, Mrs. Mary McMillan, 76, is in hospital today with a fractured wrist.

ALL FOR 40 CENTS

Woman, 76, Slugged By Purse Snatcher

A tall, thin youth is sought by police for a callous purse-snatching attack on a 76-year-old woman Saturday night.

Mrs. Mary McMillan, 2507 Quadra, suffered shock and a fractured wrist when she was walking beside the Jimmie Little store parking lot on Quadra Street.

She was returning to her room after finishing her cleaning job in a downtown office, 40 CENTS

Her black leather purse contained 40 cents, eyeglasses and papers.

Police were called by William Shawyer of 2507 Quadra, after Mrs. McMillan had managed to walk the three blocks to her home.

"We found her outside the house fumbling around," Mr. Shawyer said today. "She was dazed."

Mrs. McMillan described her attacker as tall, thin, fair-haired, wearing a light zipper jacket and dark pants.

PT. ALBERNI TRUCKER SWITCHES FROM GASOLINE
10,000 Miles Without Oil Change Claimed for Trucks Using Propane

By JOYCE HUME
PORT ALBERNI — Ever dream of an engine that could run for 22,000 miles and leave the valves as clean as the day they were last ground?

Ever dream of an engine that would run for 10,000 miles without an oil change? H. L. Pitts, a trucker in Port Alberni, claims he has one.

Mr. Pitts operates a fleet of trucks between Alberni, Plover, and APL mills. His four trucks carry wood chips to the pulp mill—and Mr.

Pitts said after switching from gasoline to propane gas his trucks perform better, run more economically, and promise to have longer engine life.

"I switched to propane in February after reading about trucks operating on this type of gas in the United States," he told the Times. "After 22,000 miles of operation, I checked the valves and found them as clean as the day we ground them. There wasn't a mark on them. In fact with propane gas the whole engine remains wonderfully clean." Mileage from propane gas is equal to that obtained from gasoline—but propane gas is around 10 cents a gallon cheaper.

Mr. Pitts has a 1,000-gallon storage tank in his truck yard from which he pressures the propane into tanks on his trucks.

"It goes into the truck tanks as liquid, but reaches the carburetor as a vapor," he says. "It is sucked into the carburetor after passing through a vaporizer placed just inside the hood. It burns as a vapor, not a liquid."

After several months of experimenting with his first truck, Mr. Pitts switched his whole fleet to the propane style of operating.

"We made slight alterations to the carburetors on two trucks and put new carbs on the other two," Mr. Pitts said. "Actually on a small passenger car you don't need to make any changes. You can

Egypt Objection Believed Reason

(Canadian Press Dispatches)

Canada's contribution to the United Nations Middle East force will, for the present, take the form of an administrative group considerably smaller than the 1,200-man, mainly infantry contingent, originally planned.

Early this afternoon Prime Minister St. Laurent called his cabinet into special meeting to deal with the dispatch of Canadian forces to the Middle East. The meeting began at 2 p.m. Victoria time.

The call came amid growing reports that at Egypt's insistence the United Nations has asked Canada to ship administrative units rather than the 950-man First Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles, now awaiting embarkation at Halifax.

Meanwhile, plans for moving the main body of the 1,200-man force out of Halifax aboard the aircraft carrier Magnificent have been suspended, but not abandoned. Troops can sail on a few hours' notice.

A Canadian source at the United Nations at New York said Egyptian objections to the Canadian infantry unit caused the change in plans.

Later, sources close to the Canadian delegation would not say definitely that the switch was due to Egypt's stand. Nor would they deny it.

The UN correspondent of Reuters news agency quoted reliable sources to the effect that Egypt's President Nasser refused to admit the bulk of the Canadian troops offered to the UN force and would agree only to Canadian administrative and medical units entering Egypt.

A Canadian spokesman said the administrative force—which probably will be flown to Egypt by RCAF aircraft—will serve as the headquarters staff for Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the force.

External Affairs Minister Pearson, head of Canada's UN delegation, met privately today with the six other members of the advisory committee of the UN force. It was presumed Canada's position in the makeup of the force was one of the main points of discussion.

Cabinet Waits Official Report
Talks were still proceeding in New York today between Maj.-Gen. Burns and senior Canadian officials on the nature of the Canadian contribution.

The cabinet will make the final decision on composition of the force.

Officials said the question now is one of priorities—which Canadian units will go first to the Middle East.

Gen. Burns is said to want more headquarters staff in the Middle East before the main body of troops arrive there. On Sunday night the prime minister's office issued a statement on the situation. It emphasized that signing by cabinet of an order-in-council authorizing dispatch of Canadian troops would be followed by the calling of a special session of Parliament to sit within 10 days. The session would be asked to approve outlay of funds for the contingent.

The meeting likely would authorize "the dispatch of the Canadian contribution in the order of its several elements as arranged with United Nations command."

UN Chief Promises Canal Aid to Egypt
NEW YORK (CP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld flew back to New York today to tell the United Nations General Assembly the results of his talks with Egyptian officials on guarding the cease-fire in the Middle East.

He promised to begin steps immediately after his arrival to arrange UN help in reopening the blocked Suez Canal—a gigantic salvage job expected to take at least six months.

Before leaving Cairo Sunday, Hammarskjöld said the Egyptian government asked for assistance to clear the waterway, and that he had agreed in principle. He declined to discuss other matters taken up with President Nasser before making his report to the assembly.

Nasser's chief political aide, Wing Cmdr. Ali Sabry, said in an interview that Egypt would clear the canal with UN help. The Egyptians have already protested British clearance operations under way at the north end of the canal as a violation of Egyptian sovereignty and of the cease-fire.

Hammarskjöld talked with Nasser and other Egyptian leaders for three days about the duties of the new UN police force, which now has more than 500 men standing by at a base in the canal zone, and other details of the cease-fire the General Assembly ordered 11 days ago between the Egyptians and British, French and Israeli troops.

There was no indication after the talks the Egyptians had modified their demand for speedy withdrawal of all foreign troops and stationing of the UN forces only at points on the old 1948 armistice line between Egypt and Israel. Sabry said Egypt expects the withdrawal to begin during the coming week if possible, without waiting for the UN troops to take over.

One of the British-French conditions in agreeing to the cease-fire was that the UN force should be competent to "secure and supervise" reopening of the canal. They have made clear they expect the UN troops to take over occupation of the canal when they pull their own forces out. The British and French troops hold the northern third of the waterway.

Foreign Minister Christian Pineau of France indicated Sunday night he thought the Egyptian appeal for UN assistance meant UN troops would be stationed in the canal zone, despite persistent Egyptian denials. In New York with France's UN delegation, Pineau said on a television program:

"The United Nations would not be able to clear the canal unless they had their forces on the canal."

The blocking of the 103-mile artery linking the Red Sea and the Mediterranean already has begun to hurt Western Europe, which got much of its oil through the Suez. Forty-seven ships were sunk in the canal before British and French paratroopers landed there Nov. 5. (See page 3.)

'We'll Bury You'—Khrushchev

West Envoys Quit Moscow Party For Second Time After Tirade

By HAROLD K. MILKS

MOSCOW (AP)—Red-faced and gesticulating, Nikita S. Khrushchev told the West Sunday night: "We will bury you."

For the second consecutive night, the Soviet Communist party leader delivered an anti-Western tirade so bitter that diplomats from the Atlantic Alliance and Israel left the room. Khrushchev's main themes at a Polish Embassy reception were Egypt and Hungary.

Obviously speaking to the Western diplomats in attendance, Khrushchev said:

"If you don't like us, don't accept our invitations and don't invite us to come to see you."

"Whether you like it or not, history is on our side. We will bury you."

The Western envoys, including United States Ambassador Charles Bohlen, retired to an outer room where one said "the atmosphere is much more pleasant." They returned to the hall where the Poles were toasting a just-signed Moscow-Warsaw joint declaration.

Leader of Peasant Party Incarcerated in Bulgaria
VIENNA (AP)—Konstantin Muraviev, Bulgaria's war-time prime minister and head of the once influential Peasant party, has been arrested together with other prominent former political leaders, the Vienna newspaper Bildtelegraf reports today.

Reports of wholesale arrests in Bulgaria reached Vienna via diplomatic channels earlier this month.

In the wake of the Hungarian rebellion, Bulgarian newspapers reported Communist party leaders conducted meetings throughout the country warning that "we will smash every attempt of the enemies of the people's regime aimed against our socialist achievements and Soviet-Bulgarian friendship."

A report that Soviet tank divisions had been moved into Bulgaria was described as "untrue" by the press officer of the Bulgarian government, the Bildtelegraf said.

Reds Break Budapest Strike But Workers Start Slowdown
BUDAPEST (AP)—The Soviet Army and its Hungarian Communist allies today broke the general strike in Budapest, but Hungarian workers immediately resorted to a defiant slowdown strike.

Only 30 to 50 per cent of Budapest's industrial workers reported for work in the city's factories today.

Western correspondents who were permitted to visit workshops found workers standing around in groups—talking but doing little work.

A Vienna report that Russians were replacing their tank troops in Hungary with 20-fresh infantry divisions lacked confirmation here.

POWER LACK
Of the industrial situation, Radio Budapest said that, although 45 per cent of the working force appeared at some of the nation's major plants, "in most cases production could not be resumed for lack of power." It attributed the absence of other workers to "transport difficulties."

At Csepel—the Danube island that is Hungary's biggest industrial complex—workers said today there would be no real production in the island's huge iron and steel works in the near future.

Only two men were seen working in the plants western correspondents were able to visit today. It turned out they were repairing their own bicycles.

Russian army officers also visited the plants this morning. The president of the workers' council in one major factory said:

"We told the Russians that the only help we need from them is that they should leave us alone."

He added: "Apparently our contact with Russians is better than that of the Kadar government. We succeeded in obtaining the release of 68 students and four workers who were arrested by the Russians."

In Budapest some buses and a few street cars operated today for the first time since fighting.

Postmen delivered letters which had arrived in Budapest before Oct. 23, the day the revolution started.

Home Fires Kill Six Children

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP)—A farm couple and three of their five children were burned to death today in a roaring fire that destroyed their frame house.

Two daughters, aged 6 and 15, jumped from upper windows of the flaming house.

after Khrushchev finished speaking.

SAME BLAST EARLIER

The night before, Khrushchev had denounced "Fascist gangs" in Hungary and "imperialists and their puppets" in the Egyptian war during a Kremlin reception for the Poles.

On that occasion the Western diplomats stalked out and did not return.

Sunday night's party followed agreement on a joint Polish-Russian statement which some Poles consider a virtual declaration of independence — although Poland remains firmly within the Moscow-led alliance.

Khrushchev began calmly: "We are Bolsheviks. We stick firmly to the Lenin precept — don't be stubborn if you see you are wrong, but don't give in if you are right."

He said the Communist countries can find solutions to all their problems on the basis of mutual understanding and equality.

But then, seemingly directing his remarks at the Western diplomats, he said: "We say this not only for the Socialist states who are more akin to us. We base ourselves on the idea that we must peacefully co-exist. About the capitalist states, it doesn't depend on you whether or not we exist."

"HISTORY FAVORS US"

Khrushchev then announced that history was on the Communists' side and that "we will bury you." Other Russian leaders burst into applause.

On Hungary, Khrushchev said: "We are very sorry that such a situation exists there. We are sure that the Hungarian working class will find the strength to overcome the difficulties. But the most important thing is that the counter-revolution must be shattered."

Of Egypt: "The Western powers are trying to denigrate Nasser . . . the situation is serious and we are realistic. The fire must be put out. I think the British and French will be wise enough to withdraw their forces and then Egypt will emerge stronger than ever."

Again referring to the West, Khrushchev said:

"You say we want war, but you now have got yourselves into a position I would call idiotic. . . .

MENTIONS TROOPS

"But we don't want to profit by it. If you withdraw your troops from Germany, France and Britain — I'm speaking of American troops — we will not stay one day in Poland, Hungary and Romania. "But we, mister capitalists, we are beginning to understand your methods. You have given us a lesson in Egypt. If we had a quarter of our present friendships for the Poles, Czechs and Slovaks before the war, (Second World War) the war would never have started."

OTTAWA RIFLE BAN BLAMED

Marooned U.S. Party Suffered Food Lack

PORT HARDY, B.C. (CP)—Three Americans, rescued Saturday after being marooned on the tip of Vancouver Island, said if Canadian government regulations had permitted them to carry a rifle they would not have been without food.

The Americans and a Canadian department of transport employee were rescued by a commercial airlines helicopter. They are Ronald C. Hetherington of Seattle, who suffered a mild heart attack Friday; Richard Radra and Lyle Work, both of Oakland, Calif. Fourth man was S. J. Sillett, 21, of Vancouver.

The three Americans are employees of the U.S. coast and geodetic survey. They had been at Cape Scott since July 23 working an electronic indicator station connected with laying a telephone cable from Port Angeles, Wash., to Alaska. Hetherington, foreman on the job, said the three had been on short rations for some time, and that food supplies had dwindled to corn meal in the last few days.

Last Tuesday, Sillett, a government radio operator, flew in to aid the stranded men, but was marooned when the light plane was forced to take off because of bad weather just after Sillett reached the beach.

Saturday the helicopter took the men to Hanson Lagoon, three miles from Cape Scott, and later a PWA Beaver flew them to Port Hardy.

"If your Canadian government didn't look unkindly on us carrying rifles on these jobs," Hetherington said, "we would have had more to eat—there was plenty of game about."

Montreal, Ottawa Experts To Head New Museums

MONTREAL (CP) — Resources Minister Lesage today announced the names of the heads of Canada's two new national museums.

He told a meeting of the Canadian Club here that Dr. Jacques Rousseau, 51, director of Montreal's botanical gardens, will be director of the new Canadian museum of human history, and Dr. Loris Shano Russell, 52, of Ottawa will be director of the Canadian museum of natural history.

Dr. Russell, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., now is on the staff of the present National Museum which is to be split into the two new institutions. Prime Minister St. Laurent announced the move in Ottawa Nov. 12.

Dr. Russell is a graduate of University of Alberta and Princeton University. After service with the University of Toronto and the Royal Ontario Museum, he joined

He said their work had been completed for more than a month and that he had been "after the company" to start the move out. Bad weather prevented supplies reaching them by sea.

It was the second time Sillett has been marooned in freezing weather. In February, 1955, he was one of five aboard an RCMP plane forced down by bad weather 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg.

At that time he was with the department at Winnipeg and was on a flight from Churchill to a remote Indian village. Rescue operations were held up by storms and 50-below temperatures for five days.

actually switch from propane to gasoline and back without a change of any kind."

In the transformation from gasoline to propane gas, Mr. Pitts planned the heads on two of his trucks.

MORE POWER

"We did it to gain more power, but I don't think it essential," he said. "On these second two we left them as they were and we have power enough for anything."

A native of Sowerby Bridge, Yorkshire, England, Mr. Pitts says he wouldn't keep the units if they were not economical.

"But, at 27 cents a gallon to the small retailer—and I get propane cheaper because I have the 1,000 storage tank—and the same mileage you could obtain from ordinary gasoline, well, you can't help but save money, can you?"

Propane users are able to purchase gas at any one of the larger island centres.

Truck driver Bert MacIntosh told the Times the trucks have given a far better performance since switching to propane.

"I can't quite describe it, but there is more power, the engine seems to run more smoothly and the whole deal appears better to me," he said.

B.C. Federation Names Group To Recommend 'Effective Program'

(From The Canadian Press)

Newly-formed B.C. Federation of Labor decided Sunday to appoint a committee to study provincial politics.

The resolution, one of nine important steps taken at the four-day Vancouver meeting — the federation's first annual convention — also endorsed political policies set by the Canadian Labor Congress, formed by merger last April.

The committee will report to the B.C. Federation's next convention "with definite proposals for an effective political action program." Meanwhile it will meet with the CCF party, farmers' organizations and other co-operatives pledged to support the federation program.

NEW PARTY?

Some affiliated unions favor alliance with the CCF party and individuals have favored establishment of a new labor party in B.C. The CLC policy opposes direct political party ties for the national federation.

Other moves made by the B.C. Federation:

1. Request that the B.C. Liquor Control Board restore alcohol percentage in liquor to pre-war level.

2. Request that the provincial government take steps to permit legal Sunday sports on a local basis.

3. Resolution asking the provincial government to release the RCMP report on the Sturdy-Sommers case.

4. Request for a contributory national health scheme covering all Canadians including newly-arrived immigrants.

5. Referral to the new executive of a resolution asking for a universal $100 a month old age pension.

6. Introduction of a resolution calling for establishment of senior colleges in outlying areas of the province, working in conjunction with the University of B.C.

7. Endorsement of a resolution urging the government to pay tuition fees of high school graduates showing scholastic promise who are unable to attend university because of the cost. Also to pay part of travel and living costs of students from the outcountry.

8. Rejection of a resolution urging the CLC to lift suspension of the Communist-dominated United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.).

9. Request to the federal government to pay prevailing rates to fire fighters employed by the defence department in military and naval establishments.

BLACK ELECTED

A total of about 105 resolutions were dealt with by the convention, apart from constitutional resolutions.

New executive of the federation is headed by William Black, president, business agent of Hospital Employees' Union, local 180, Vancouver, formerly a Trades Union Congress organization.

Other executive members, apart from second vice-president Victor Midgley, international representative of the carpenters' union in Victoria, are former B.C. Federation of Labor (CLC) leaders, favoring CCF policies.

Six Hungarian Refugees Welcomed at Montreal

By JANE BECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Six Hungarian refugees, first to come to Canada from their rebellion-torn homeland, arrived in Montreal by air during the weekend and pledged themselves to continue their country's fight for liberty from Russian domination.

"Hungarians will keep up the struggle by any possible means, both inside and outside Hungary," said Solyom Andras, a 38-year-old former Budapest auto mechanic.

"About 25,000 Hungarians hope to carry the struggle on from outside the boundaries of their homeland," he said, expressing a hope for United Nations assistance.

Mr. Andras arrived Saturday night. He was followed early Sunday by five others—Mr. and Mrs. Karoly Marton and their daughter, Beata, 13 months, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pecs.

A total of about 40 Hungarian refugees are expected to arrive in Canada by next Friday. Some 17 are destined for Montreal and the rest for Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

WALKED TO FREEDOM

The Martons and the Pecs, residents of a town called Sopron five miles from the Austrian border, walked to freedom 30 minutes before the frontier was closed. The Martons wheeled their child to safety in a baby carriage, which was with them Sunday, one of the few possessions they carried out.

But by bit, under questioning, the refugees told newsmen of their last few weeks in war-battered Hungary.

Hungary's future is still a guess they said. That the resistance had lasted until now was a miracle, said Mr. Marton. During the thick of the fighting, feeling among patriots ran so high, he said, that he saw one teen-aged girl throw herself under a Russian tank with a hand grenade to make sure it would be blown up.

FOOD SUPPLY SHORT

At one stage, Soviet troops had run short of food, and had sold sten guns and ammunition to patriots in return for supplies. Today, he added, refusal to work is the only weapon the Hungarians have left.

The refugees' own future looks more secure. The immigration department says it has found a job for mechanic Andras. It expects little trouble in placing Mr. Marton, a mining engineer, or Mr. Pecs, a textile worker. All are lodged at the immigration centre here until suitable housing is found.

The usual tedious inspection of baggage by the customs was spared them. Total load, outside of a few pieces of hand luggage, consisted of two suitcases and the baby carriage.

Russ Limit Army Activities In Poland Under New Pact

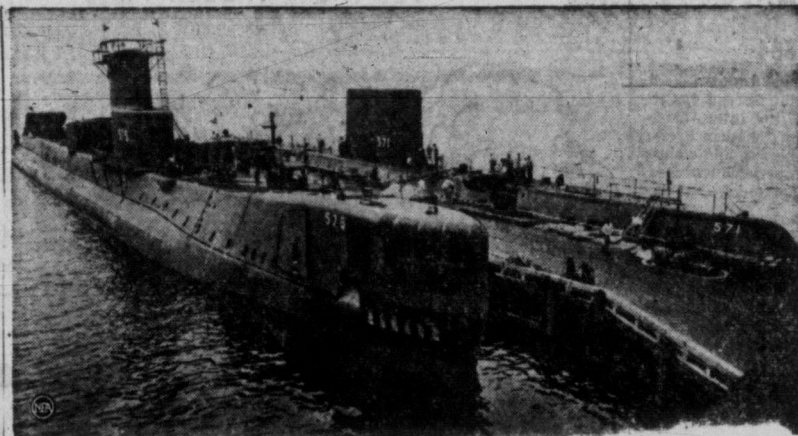

MOSCOW (AP)—Wladyslaw Gomulka, of Poland, signed with the Soviet government Sunday night a joint declaration which keeps Poland firmly within the Communist bloc but provides recognition of its sovereignty and equality.

The new Polish regime has agreed to let Soviet troops remain in the country but limitations have been placed on the movement of Red Army forces.

Consultations will be held on the strength and composition of the Soviet troops in Poland.

U.S. ATOMIC SUBMARINE "SEA WOLF" GIVING TROUBLE

There is a serious doubt among experts that America's second atom sub, Sea Wolf, will ever be as successful as Nautilus, the first such vessel, which is performing beyond expectations. It's possible the sodium-type atomic reactor will have to be replaced by the hot-water type of the Nautilus. This would be an enormous addition to the cost of the Sea Wolf, already estimated to be $32,700,000. The delay could run into years. Sea Wolf, left, and Nautilus are pictured at Groton, Conn. (NEA Photo.)

Russian Disarmament Proposal Labelled Cover-Up by U.K. Press

LONDON (Reuters)—Most British newspapers attack Russia's latest disarmament proposals as a propaganda cover for Soviet repression of Hungary, but say the opportunity for top level talks in the present state of world tension cannot be ignored.

The Russians in new proposals Saturday—coupled with the announcement of a new nuclear explosion—gave qualified acceptance to President Eisenhower's "open skies" aerial inspection plan, proposed again a ban on nuclear weapons and a reduction of ground forces.

A foreign office spokesman said the British government will start consultations with the United States shortly on the proposals, but he would make no further comment.

U.S. STARTS STUDY

At Washington, President Eisenhower ordered a careful study of Russia's new disarmament proposals.

His aim is to determine whether they offer any fresh openings for negotiations which could end the East-West arms race and bring the threat of a hydrogen war under the control of a global disarmament program.

The State Department received from Ambassador

Charles E. Bohlen in Moscow the text of a declaration disclosed in the Russian capital early Saturday. It was understood to have been accompanied by a message from Premier Bulganin to Eisenhower asking for its consideration here.

Bulganin called for a new summit meeting of the Big Four powers plus India, but not including Red China. He offered to discuss Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection plan which he had previously rejected.

Russia is also believed to have proposed the creation of a 1,000-mile buffer zone between East and West which would be subject to President Eisenhower's "open sky" inspection plan.

The note, it is understood, repeated the Soviet call for a reduction of armed forces to the following totals: United States, Russia and China, 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 men each; Britain and France, 650,000 men each; other nations, no more than 200,000 men.

The court also ordered Richard Cann to pay $54 damages to the car owner.

Cann told Magistrate H. C. Hall that he was "unbalanced" at the time because he had been drinking and was "rolled" of $40 a short time before.

Oil-Short Britons Give Up Sunday Drive

LONDON (CP)—Thousands of automobile drivers in Britain, Sweden and Switzerland stayed off the highways Sunday as the pinch resulting from the Middle East war squeeze began to hurt.

The move was voluntary in Britain—in answer to a plea by the government to co-operate in saving petroleum products that come largely from Middle East pipe lines and through the Suez Canal.

The Swiss government, however, banned Sunday motoring, except for special cases, as a forerunner to full scale rationing expected next month.

Sweden banned private motoring on weekends and directed filling stations not to sell any gasoline on weekends.

Even if the Suez Canal is opened in relatively quick time—and few expect this—western Europe faces a bleak winter. Oil and coal men predict new rises in prices.

Roses Are Red, Violets Blue, Buy a Shirt, It's Violet Too

TURIN, Italy (AP)—Violet is the big color for men's clothing, exhibitors at an international clothing show here agreed. European and American manufacturers displayed violet hats, violet shoes and violet shirts.

RENO, Nev. (AP)—A hypnotist has telegraphed President Eisenhower suggesting that he "lead the nation in a humane Thanksgiving" Thursday by putting his turkey in a trance before the axe falls.

"This is easily done by first talking to him (the bird) softly, laying his head quietly on the ground where you stretch a piece of white string," messaged Arthur Ellen.

"His eyes focus on the string, thereby allaying his fears and virtually putting him to sleep. The bird is not frightened at the time of the execution, tastes better due to the absence of adrenalin in the bloodstream and plucks easier because the muscles holding the feathers are relaxed."

WICKENBURG, Ariz. (AP)—Seeking action on a long overdue bill, automobile dealer Bernard Hill wrote the following letter to a customer:

"Dear friend: What would all your neighbors think if we came to your town and repossessed your car?"

The customer wrote back: "I have taken this matter up with my neighbors and they all think it would be a lousy trick."

MANISTIQUE, Mich. (AP)—World skeet-shooting champion Chesley J. Crites took careful aim with his deer rifle and fired eight times—at his own four-seater airplane.

Crites, 46, of Detroit, had no choice. He had started the plane's motor at Blaney Park airstrip near this upper peninsula town, not realizing that the throttle was wide open.

The plane broke its tie-lines and roared off down the field, never leaving the ground but circling the field crazily out of control. Crites, president of the National Skeet Association and current international skeet shooting champion, grabbed his deer rifle and fired away at the plane.

Eight bullets ripped into the motor. Then as Crites watched sadly, the plane caught fire and burned—a total loss.

The Big Flaw

MOST OF THE CRITICS OF THE Canadian Government's anti-inflation policy never point to its great flaw. If these critics are provincial governments they cannot make the obvious and valid criticism because it would be turned back upon them.

The great flaw, of course, is that the Federal Government is itself spending huge and increasing sums of money (apart from the essential expenditures on defence) while at the same time urging business and individuals to spend less.

Close to five billion dollars a year is being spent by Ottawa and this represents nothing but a demand for goods. It is a major factor in the total demand which, being larger than the immediate total supply, is causing inflation.

The Government, with remarkable courage and against strong objection, has loyally supported the Bank of Canada in using the weapons of interest rates and credit restriction against inflation.

It has also maintained, so far, a budgetary surplus for the same purpose and rejected the political temptation of premature tax reductions. To do otherwise would be to repudiate and stultify both the bank and itself. But in the field of expenditure, except in certain public works, the Government has shown little of the restraint that it is advocating among private spenders.

The provincial governments, however, are generally in no position to criticize Ottawa's spending. They are constantly urging Ottawa to spend more, often for provincial purposes, and are themselves pushing up their local budgets much faster than Ottawa is pushing up the national budget.

Thus in combination, the three levels of government—federal, provincial and municipal—are eating a huge and increasing chunk of the nation's pie while the public is urged to demand a little less for the time being.

There is another flaw in the national policy and at the moment it seems constitutionally incurable.

As Mr. James Coyne, the able governor of the central bank, has been saying, one of the most disturbing aspects of the inflation is the expansion of consumer credit. Mr. St. Laurent is saying the same thing.

Many Canadians immediately ask why, if this is so, the Federal Government does not restrict consumer credit, at least to some extent. They forget that constitutionally the Federal Government has no control over consumer credit at present. Mr. St. Laurent, a leading constitutional lawyer, has pointed out that fact several times but few people seem to have heard him.

The control of consumer credit is presently in the hands of the provincial legislatures and governments. They are doing nothing about it, some because they don't believe that inflation exists; others because they think no action is needed; and others because they are afraid of political damage.

Practically speaking, it is quite absurd that the Bank of Canada, the central engine of the whole financial system, should be able to control interest rates, for example, and thus to influence the whole structure of credit but is unable directly to do anything about consumer credit. Constitutionally speaking that is the present fact.

It could be altered only by a constitutional amendment—a difficult process, or by an act of Parliament giving the Federal Government emergency powers. Parliament would hesitate to pass such an act.

However, if the fiscal measures like high interest rates, already taken, prove insufficient, the Federal Government will have to consider some wider approach. Logically the Government which is responsible for the national economy and the management of money should have all the powers needed for that purpose and the provinces, it is to be supposed, would gladly abandon them since their use is unlikely to be popular.

Red China Must Wait

THE CURRENT SPLIT IN THE international policies of Britain and the United States is not confined to the Middle East crisis. As External Affairs Minister Pearson reminded a United States audience last week, the question of policy on Red China still divides the two allies.

It is difficult to see how recognition of Red China can be deferred indefinitely. Whether we like it or not, the communist regime is the government of the country, and appears to be firmly seated for many years to come.

Many Washington officials accept this fact. The question of recognition—along with that of acceptance to membership of the United Nations—appears to be one of timing rather than of fact.

That is the Canadian attitude, as expressed from time to time by Mr. Pearson. However, it is not surprising that a majority of the members of the United Nations, Canada included, have decided that Red China's time has not come yet.

After all, Red China still has the dubious distinction, along with North Korea, of having fought the armed forces of the United Nations as a formally-charged aggressor. It has angered American public opinion—still concerned with its Korean dead—with provocative acts time and time again. These include periodic attacks on U.S. aircraft, imprisonment of American citizens and occasional inflammatory statements.

There appears to be no disposition in Peiping to exhibit regret, or even anything less than satisfaction, over participation in the Korean fighting. The argument that Red China cannot "shoot its way into the United Nations" therefore still holds some force.

It apparently was effective last Friday in delaying for at least a year further consideration of Peiping's application for membership. Obviously, Britain at present is inclined to "appease" the United States on this question, in order to invite an equally co-operative attitude toward the British stand in Egypt.

One other factor cannot be ignored. Acceptance of Red China means rejection of Nationalist China, with all the repercussions that would ensue.

It is true that Chiang Kai-shek's island regime does not exist as a world power. But his abandonment by the United States which so long has supported him might be interpreted as betrayal in some Far Eastern countries. And his "de-recognition" as China's voice in the United Nations could instigate serious disturbances in the East-West line of strength which at present lies with fair stability in the Formosa Strait.

With other diplomatic theatres in the state they are today, the U.N. has done well to postpone any move on Red China for another year.

Smacked on the Smug

ONCE MORE A VISITOR TO Canada has delivered a sharp criticism of Canadian ways, Canadian culture and Canadian society.

Margaret E. Naylor, an English woman who recently spent a year in this country has written a feature for London's Daily Telegraph pointing out to some of the things she doesn't like about us or our land.

Several of her fellow countrymen and women have replied to Miss Naylor, defending Canadians and Canada in general.

The latter development is pleasing to Canadians. Because we are human we tend to resent unfavorable criticism.

We're not flattered to hear Miss Naylor, back in London, saying that medical treatment is too costly here, cultural amenities too few and public transport poor. We're not gratified when she argues that only 10 per cent of our radio programs are bearable and that even they are "probably laced with nauseating advertisements." We're inclined to object to the suggestion that we should grow up.

Such assertions are unpleasant. So are a lot of medicines that are good for us.

Perhaps we should thank Miss Naylor. We need more of her kind. They help us to avoid slipping too easily into complacency and smugness that often accompany comfortable living.

More power to Miss Naylor. While we're wondering if our halo is on straight, she is asking very bluntly whether or not we have a halo at all, or if we're entitled to one. It's a good question.

Too Many Hidden Plays

O SAY CAN YOU SEE . . .

By B. A. TOBIN

Far From the Madding Crowd

FOR SOME years now I have made it a practice to attend the poorest movies I can find. While at first sight it might appear that I am inflicting a cruel and unusual punishment upon myself, there is a certain method in my madness. For the fact will be recognized by a good many people: that however horrible a lot of Hollywood productions may be, they cannot approach in sheer unpleasantness some of the situations you run into in crowded theatres. Therefore my preference for poor movies is not based on what will be shown on the screen but on the fact that the theatre will be nearly empty. There will be no line-up in front, no delay in obtaining a ticket, no trouble in choosing the exact seat I wish to have, and no — oh happy evening! — no interference from fellow movie-goers.

Tobin

You would be surprised what a wide choice of films you get by choosing only the turkeys. The miseries endured by patrons of the filled theatres are enough to make a book, and must be a great factor in the increasing popularity of home movies and television.

Obstacle Race

You have the problem of getting to your seat in the middle of the row by scraping over a dozen assorted male and female shins, muttering apologies to seat-holders who already have stood up every few minutes throughout the evening.

You sink gratefully into your seat, but find you have merely joined the line of bobbers who are letting other spectators in and out.

This is a mild form of exercise to which only a few will take serious exception. I have even toyed with the idea of proposing it as an event in the Olympic Games. I am sure many prospective champions would appear to represent their countries.

Among them no doubt would be Aloysius P. Criquet of New York City, who once claimed to have stumbled a total of 43 yards over spectators' feet in the remarkable time of 17.3 seconds. He also entered a claim to have jumped up and sat down in a theatre seat a record 57 times during a feature-length film, although this has been disputed.

But all this aside, the chief reason I watch hopefully for trailers which indicate that next week's picture will be a complete flop is the terrible competition set up by the large audiences which patronize popular films.

In the first place you have the cough-ers. One man in a darkened theatre will sit for hours and never make a sound. But put a cougher in with him and they will set each other going, hacking and choking back and forth, until both are exhausted. Put a couple of hundred of them together and you have bedlam.

A chap of my acquaintance often turns down suggestions for a movie with the remark that he feels so well, with never a sign of a sniffle or cough, that he could never hope to hold his own among the crowd.

Lip Readers Only

Comedy films present a problem of their own. Those who have seen the show before and have had the jokes explained to them will laugh in anticipation just as the comic makes his killing remark. In the noise of this laughter you miss what was said. Another portion of the audience, slower to get the point, decides to laugh anyway even though it's a little late. Hence you miss the humorous reply made to the comic's remark.

This may go on for minutes at a time so that in effect you are whisked back to the silent movie era—a frustrating experience when the whole point of your movie lies in the spoken word.

But the coughers and the laughers after all are only human. It's the rustlers, chewers and eaters who are inhuman. With fiendish timing they open their chocolate bar wrappers just as the heroine is whispering the best line of the show.

"Darling," she murmurs, "I crackle rasp tear and so r-r-r-p snap."

Then the crunching begins. Chomp, gulp, chomp, gulp. And it's getting worse. To candy bars have been added popcorn and drinks. There are bags of this and packages of that, and judging by the smell more than a few parcels of fish and chips are smuggled into the darkness to be enjoyed at leisure.

Movie Menu

I have no doubt that future improvements will call for box lunches such as the airlines serve, and the hazard of bowls of soup or lamb chops smothered in gravy will be added to the existing problems.

It may yet come to the point where the invitation, "Let's go to a movie," will be answered with "No thanks, I'm not hungry."

It is for reasons such as these that I prefer the deserted movie houses and the grade D pictures. The worse the film the more quickly I run to it. That is, I would run, but my toes still ache from being caught in the back of the seat last week when the fellow in front stood up without warning.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"HE'S SUCH AN AFFECTIONATE KID. WHY DO FOLKS CALL HIM DENNIS THE MENACE?"

From Our Files

Nov. 19, 1896—Hon. J. Israel Tarte today viewed the new pile bridge at Point Ellice, going out on the tug Sadie. Yesterday the Dominion minister of public works visited the Esquimalt Drydock, planning improvements.

Nov. 19, 1916—Frank Campbell of Prospect Lake has given the Canadian Red Cross Society's local branch a purebred spaniel of his well-known strain. A litter brother recently sold for $25.

Nov. 19, 1936—The Revellers' Club Christmas hamper fund this year is expected to exceed the returns of last year. Representatives of the Victoria club will attend the Vancouver club's annual dinner.

As Our Readers See It

United By Necessity

It is by no means a misfortune for the people of North America to witness the working out of a military partnership between France and Great Britain who in times past have been the bitterest of enemies.

A convenient and necessary process of union for all Europe along political lines could have a favorable outcome far outweighing its cost in the loss of national pride to any of the participants.

The Egyptian people, in the Suez dispute, have been led along the wrong pathway. Their material needs have suffered greatly from incompetent rulers as much as from foreign interference. Their best course now is to court a friendship with American and European interests without throwing away possible trade connections with Russia.

Losing a sea passage at the Suez Canal was too horrible a prospect for British commercial interests to swallow, so the link with France was forged in defiance of so small a thing as public opinion anywhere. On some occasions on this side of the Atlantic it has been found best to adopt bold measures, with little regard for traditions which, like nations, have to care for themselves.

PHILIP HOLLOWAY.
Central Saanich.

The Alternative?

I should like to ask Mr. Snowsall and others who think that Britain and France were aggressors in the Suez crisis what would have happened had they not occupied the canal area?

It would have left the field wide open for Russia to assume complete control of Egypt and hasten third world war. One of the objects of the United Nations is to prevent war and punish any aggressor. And just what will the U.N. do to discipline Russia for her rape of Hungary? I think—exactly nothing, except perhaps a reprimand. Certainly not military action.

Milk Price

It seems time someone set the record straight in regard to the recent milk price cut to producers.

Also "Disgusted", writing to your paper, is apparently adept at juggling figures and comes up with a cut of 1 cent per cwt.

I am enclosing two milk statements from my dairy, one for August before formula pricing, and one for September, after the cut (30c).

The August statement reads: Price per 100 lbs., $5.865; test 3.45. September reads: Price per 100 lbs., $5.634; test 3.55.

Considering the butterfat differential (before formula pricing) this is a direct cut of 30 cents per cwt., and my milk cheque was down $45 for September accordingly.

With the promised increase of 12 or 13 cents my October cheque will be 18 cents below what it would have been without formula pricing.

I would like very much to tell the Milk Board what to do with their 12 cents but I can't afford this luxury as I need the 12 cents to buy two postage stamps.

Still disgusted.
C. STIRLING.

No Middle Road

I have long been an admirer of the literary talents of Mr. Bruce Hutchison, but his denunciation of the Calgary Herald for its temerity in criticizing the stand, or lack of stand, of the government of this country on Oct. 30 in the Middle East crisis, seems to be a denial of our acknowledged rights to freedom of expression. (Loose Ends, Thursday, Nov. 11.)

I am quite confident that few people would deny Mr. Hutchison or any of his editorial colleagues the same freedom of expression in the sphere of provincial politics. Be it noted, however, that the complete editorial of the Calgary Herald was not made available to the Times readers, and I frankly doubt that any responsible Canadian paper would advocate that we accept unquestionably the foreign policy of Britain or any other nation.

If, as some would have us believe, most Canadians were unaware of the facts which determined the course of action taken jointly by Britain and France, it is for the simple reason that the facts have not been presented to them.

In place of these facts we have been treated, through the medium of the press, radio and television, to peculiar pseudo-moralistic ramblings which failed to take into consideration the prime factors which motivated the British and French.

It is a sad commentary that the only voices in the wilderness as far as our local press is concerned were those of the Alsop brothers and Walter Lippmann, American columnists of unimpeachable reputation.

In the current issue of the Financial Post (to which Mr. Hutchison himself is a contributor) an article by J. B. McGeachy describes in terms which are difficult to refute the series of events in the troubled Suez area, extending over a period of years, which not only disposes of all charges of aggression levelled at Britain and France but rightly states that "the whole world has reason to be grateful to these two countries for public-spirited and courageous action."

If this viewpoint is difficult of comprehension to those who have not had the opportunity to read the article, it is entirely due to the failure of the press, up to the present time, to present all the considerations which were at stake, as Mr. McGeachy has.

In the space normally allocated to letters to the editor I am not at liberty to elaborate. I would, however, say that if a complete reprint of the article in the Financial Post is not practicable (and surely the subject is of paramount importance), then I would urge that sufficient of it be presented to your readers in order to enable them to formulate an unbiased opinion based neither on pro-British or anti-British sentiments, but on hard, undeniable facts.

The enemies of our way of life have every reason to gloat at the turn of events, which not only has failed to make us act in concert but has failed also to make us think in concert.

It behooves us all to cast a wary eye on those who would divide us, whether it be for mean political considerations or the lack of intestinal fortitude to make a stand against the evil that is communism.

There is no middle of the road; we can't play both ends against the middle. To their credit both Australia and New Zealand already realize this.

FROM WASHINGTON By WALTER LIPPMANN

The Soviet 'Volunteers'

PRESIDENT Eisenhower's statement about opposing Russian "volunteers" in Egypt cannot fairly or reasonably be interpreted as an attempt to avoid American responsibility and to pass the buck to the United Nations. There are no doubt men in Washington who would like to do just that. But it could not be done in this case even if we wanted to do it. For if the U.N. allows a force of Russian volunteers to be organized in Egypt and Syria, it will be a disastrous blow to the United States. But it would be a fatal blow to the United Nations. So we must read the President's statement as a call upon the United Nations to seize the problem which has been brought into the open by Egyptian and Russian declarations about volunteers.

What would be the position of the U.N. if, after demanding Russian withdrawal from Hungary and British and French withdrawal from Egypt, it allowed a Russian army to enter Egypt and Syria?

The President is entitled to say that he is going to work through the U.N. because he has a right to insist that the issue is one which the U.N. cannot evade.

There can be no doubt that, once established in the Middle East, this Russian force would have the power to make and to unmake the Arab governments, and thus to dominate the whole region.

The question is not one which can be disposed of by resolutions which do no more than to express an opinion. The question is whether, Great Britain and France having withdrawn from Egypt, the U.N. will permit Russia to enter Egypt.

The latest reports available as this is written suggest that both in Cairo and in Moscow there is a disposition not to plunge ahead with the volunteer business. The President's first warning must surely have had something to do with this.

Moreover, as the withdrawal of the Anglo-French forces is assured, there is no reason why the Soviet government can publicly avow to justify the sending in of its own so-called volunteers.

This is a very considerable gain. But we have no right to suppose that the Soviet government is, therefore, giving up the idea of creating a Soviet military force in the heart of the Middle East.

There is much credible evidence, uncovered through the capture of Egyptian documents and an examination of the captured Russian munitions in Egypt, to indicate a strong probability that a Russian military base is being prepared. The evidence indicates that military supplies have been shipped into Egypt to await the later arrival of the volunteers, that is to say of the Soviet personnel.

For the moment it may be that the occasion has passed when the Soviet government will move a great mass of volunteers into Egypt. But the world must reckon with the probability that such personnel will be coming nevertheless, coming quietly and in small numbers over a period of time.

Long Tour

This means that the United Nations police force has a long tour of duty ahead of it. It will have to do more than to supervise the British, French and Israeli withdrawal. It will have to do more than to deal with the Arab-Israeli border problems.

There is a great vacuum of power in the Middle East which was created by the original withdrawal of the British from Suez in 1954. Nasser has tried to fill that vacuum. But Nasser's Egypt is not a great power, and Nasser's role in the history of the Middle East has not been to create the Pan-Arab empire he talks about. His role has been to open the door of the Middle East to the Russian empire. (Copy'rt 1956, N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.)

Upon Johnson St. Bridge

(A long time after Wordsworth.)
Earth has not anything to show more rare:

Numb would he be of smell who could pass by

Odors so stagnant in intensity: This city now doth like a garment wear A cloak of sooty smogs, clinging, drear: Ships, towers, domes, theatres and temples lie

Shut off from sight and from the very sky, All slumped and sombre in the smoky air.

Never did sun more pitifully strain To pierce the tenebrous gloom! Ne'er saw I, never felt, such cleansing rain Sweep like a fierce absterging broom With less effect. Dear God! My feeble brain Is clogged with smog, and I have lost my home,

"OXONIAN."

The Market-Place

I had a dream, and in my dream I was in a democratic market-place where anyone who wanted could have a soapbox and hold forth in Hyde Park fashion.

I heard a woman saying, "Canada has ratted on the Old Country and the ineffable Lester Pearson has practically wrecked the Commonwealth."

"I heard another saying, 'France and Great Britain were fully justified in taking police action to protect the canal.'"

Another said: "The British and the French have committed an act of pure aggression, and might is never right."

Another said: "Thanks to Mr. Pearson's magnificent leadership Canada has assumed the moral leadership of the Commonwealth."

Another said that it was hypocritical to say that Canada was any more moral than any other nation.

"Eden's worked for peace," said one.

"Eden's jeopardised the peace," screamed another.

On the provincial front, one voice was saying that Mr. Bennett is God's greatest gift to British Columbia. Another was saying that Mr. Bennett is first cousin to Big Brother, and was talking about this dark period in provincial politics.

"Fluoridation! Give us fluoridation," cried one voice. "Rat poison," cried another. "It's a diabolical scheme by the Communists, linked up with the aluminum interests. Why should we be forced to put this poison into our systems?"

Several voices were crying out their belief in public ownership. Others were shouting for private enterprise. And a gentle little lady was saying quietly that she didn't give a hoot for public ownership or private enterprise. The chief thing, she said, was that pets should be evacuated along with the less important beings.

A strident voice was saying that the only thing that really counted in this world was money. Money and power.

A fainter voice retorted firmly that money wasn't everything, and then went on to talk about "the eternal values."

A rather hard-faced woman was saying that she for one was quite determined to keep up with the Joneses and show that she was just as good as anybody else. And the man beside her was saying that keeping up with the Joneses was what caused the everlasting rat race.

A pale young man with unruly hair was proclaiming that religion is the central core of life.

And another pale young man with unruly hair was saying that religion is barbaric superstition and the opiate of the masses.

Another young man had gathered quite a circle of listeners to his cries that rock'n'roll was a savage, sexual dance and a modern variation of the old pagan, fertility rites.

But the girl on the soapbox next to his wasn't listening to him. She was singing, "Love Me Tender," and looking absolutely gone.

A Jehovah's Witness wasn't speaking. He was simply holding out a pamphlet slamming the Roman Catholic Church.

But a British-Israelite was having a field day with talk of Gog and Armageddon and the chosen race.

There were plenty more speakers in the market-place. Some were swearing by the United Nations. And some were swearing at the United Nations.

But I liked the democratic market-place of my dream. Always. I'd far rather have argument and a ferment of ideas than the dreadful apathy of people who swallow everything they're told, and are only allowed to hear one side of controversial questions.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Billy Bunter Again

LONDON — My mailbag . . . Mr. R. Colby, of Toronto's Denison Square, is one of numerous readers who have written to say that the piece I did recently on Billy Bunter revived pleasant memories of following the adventures of this English character of schoolboy fiction before the war.

"But it wasn't only boys of English-type Dominions such as Australia and New Zealand who loved him," he writes. "Don't forget English-type Dominions such as Canada. In my youth around Broadway and Queen Streets, we tried to get local lads interested in cricket as indulged in by Harry Wharton and Co., but in the end I'm afraid cricket remained just an insect to us."

R. W. W. Field, of Scarborough, tells me that The Telegram's Ted Reeve is steeped in Harry Wharton of Greyfriars and chums Billy Bunter, Bob Cherry and Frank Nugent and if I'm not more accurate in writing of them the poet of Squaw Hollow may nail me to the column in his Sporting Extras.

A. L. Stevenson, of Belmont Avenue, in Victoria, B.C., sent me two copies of The Magnet featuring Billy Bunter stories (of the year 1933) and proof that they still have appeal for the new generation is that we can't drag young Mac away from them for his chores of mowing the lawn and walking the dogs.

Gordon Best, Toronto public relations man, writes to ask: "How on earth can passengers on a ship listen to music on a radiogram?"

Sure, the usual thing is to send a message by radiogram but in England it's a portman-teau word for radio-gramophone.

E. Victor Spielberg writes from Toronto's Gladstone Avenue about English people who come to Canada not being assimilated any too fast and quotes the story of the Englishman in Britain who wrote a friend in Vancouver asking him to meet his son who was arriving in Halifax. "Meet him yourself," cabled the Vancouver friend. "You're closer to him than I am."

Mrs. Lynne Clarke of Marilyn Crescent, Toronto, is one of many to write about a column in which a Canadian I talked to wanted to move to England but his wife was against it because of all the material benefits to her of life in Canada.

"I think the right answer," she says, "is that the man should be happy in his work. He has to be the breadwinner for a good many years of his life and to be tied to a job and place he did not like would be purgatory. There are some words in the Bible that are worth remembering: 'Wither thou goest, I will go'—from the Book of Ruth, I think. I know that if my husband wanted to change his country and his job I would go with him. Keeping up with the Joneses has no appeal to me, but being a good friend to my husband has."

Most of the other letters were from English people living in Canada who said if only they were free of such things as Canada's terrible hospital bills and could afford it they would return to dear old England in a shot. I'm lucky. I get such letters only now and then. How bored Canadians at home must be with hearing that theme all the time.

Mindszenty Faced Death Three Times

Prelate's Aide, Reveals Red Attempts

MODENA, Italy (AP)—An Italian newspaper correspondent Sunday quoted an aide of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty as saying Soviet secret police tried three times to kill the Roman Catholic Church's Hungarian primate.

The correspondent, Angelo Ori of the Gazzetta de Modena said his source was Rev. Bela Ispenky, protocol aide to the cardinal, interviewed last week in Vienna. Father Ispenky is believed to be in a refugee camp at present.

Ori said Father Ispenky told him the attempts were made from 1945 to 1948. Ispenky was sentenced to life imprisonment with Cardinal Mindszenty under the Communist regime in Hungary in 1949.

A Hungarian court cut the sentence to four years a month after the trial but he told Ori he was released from jail with the cardinal in the recent Hungarian uprising. The cardinal took temporary refuge in the U.S. embassy in Budapest. Ispenky escaped across the frontier into Austria.

Hungary Says Red Cross Must Channel U.S. Aid

VIENNA (AP)—Hungary will take $30,000,000 worth of United States aid if it is distributed through the International Red Cross, director Roger Gallopin has announced.

The Hungarian proposal was reported under study in Washington.

U.S. STATE SECRETARY QUILTS HOSPITAL

Dulles Charges Soviets Wage 'Promiscuous Slaughter' War

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles accused the Soviet rulers Sunday of waging "promiscuous slaughter" and trying to substitute themselves for the United Nations in the Middle East.

He delivered the twin blast as he left Walter G. Reed Hospital for a two-week convalescence at Key West, Fla. He is recovering from an intestinal cancer operation performed Nov. 3.

Speaking in a firm voice on the hospital steps, Dulles said the Soviet slaughter in Hungary was carried out in defiance of UN resolutions and added:

"The free nations cannot relax their vigilance in the face of such violations of basic principle."

Home 'Ec' Courses Face Cancellation

Students at Mount Douglas High School won't be able to take courses in home economics and industrial arts if the 1956 school building by-law is defeated next month.

A school board bulletin states today that for years Mount Douglas High students have been transported to Mount View, Lansdowne Junior High or Victoria High for these courses.

COSTLY SYSTEM

"It is costly to the ratepayers. It curtails the time which students can devote to these subjects and space now used for teaching Mount Douglas students in other schools will be taken over by pupils in these schools, as numbers increase therein."

"If an addition is not made to Mount Douglas High School, the students of that unit will be denied the opportunity of taking courses in home economics and industrial arts."

'Deep-Freeze' Woman Bears Healthy Son

NEWCASTLE, Eng. (AP)—An expectant mother who was unconscious for 169 days from a brain injury gave birth Sunday to a baby boy.

The child was born on the 23rd birthday of Mrs. Ellen Moore. Mother and son, who weighed seven pounds 12 ounces, were reported doing well.

Mrs. Moore was hurt May 4 while walking along a street near her home.

A 30-foot-long log flew off a truck and struck her on the head.

At one point physicians gave her a deep-freeze treatment, lowering her temperature to 12 degrees below normal.

For a week she remained in a virtual state of hibernation. Then she began to recover.

Even the Moon Wore Black for Battered Roughriders

By JIM McKEACHIE
(Special to the Times)

EDMONTON—Like the vodka that is sold in their opponents' native province, the Edmonton Eskimos left the Saskatchewan Roughriders breathless! After all—51-7...

And it was fitting when, three minutes into the final quarter of that rubber game of the WIFU final here Saturday night, the public address announcer drew the attention of the record 22,451 shivering fans in Clarke Stadium to the eclipse of the moon just starting. The score was 37-7 for Edmonton at the time, and the crowd welcomed the change of scene from the awesome sameness of the Eskimo machine smoothly rolling up points virtually without opposition.

The total eclipse of the Roughriders was almost complete. But it was a change to look up through a chill prairie sky at the other eclipse—except that a howling north wind blew more of the Stadium's cinder track into your eyes.

Two plays after the lunar announcement, Edmonton added another touchdown. That was the one that was set up when Rolfe Miles stood perfectly still and took a pass. From within the midst of the thermos throb in the stand, it seemed the nearest Saskatchewan player was no closer than the moon, so easy did that play—and countless others—look. Incidentally, Jackie Parker quarterbacked the pregame drills, but Don Getty started—and stayed—in that spot.

The Edmonton dressing room buzzed with quiet conversation and congratulations after the game. It was fully half an hour after the final gun before the stragglers in the shower burst into song. Seems winning the big one is old stuff to Pop Ivy's Eskimos. Besides, most of the players weren't thinking of the game just over, but of next Saturday's Grey Cup re-match with the Montreal Alouettes in Toronto.

Coach Ivy said little, except that he was proud of young Don Getty's quarterbacking and that he, was waiting for Eagle Keys to return from scouting the Montreal-Hamilton game in Montreal Saturday afternoon. The only thing certain seemed to be that the Eskimos planned to fly east today.

Remarkable as it seems, the Riders' dressing room was the boldest one. The explanation was that the Saskatchewan players had none of those post-game worries about one play or another being a turning point.

As Annis Stukus, who knows whereof he speaks and also writes (for a Vancouver journal), said: "It's when you lose by one point, or one touchdown that it bothers you."

Saskatchewan coach Frank Filchok reflected the club's attitude when he was asked what he considered to be the turning point.

"In the fourth quarter, it was 50-7," he said, "Third down and two yards to go—and Edmonton kicked that 51st point. That's the straw that broke our back."

Though they were disappointingly impotent Saturday night, the Saskatchewan players have a fine spirit. Giving the lie to stories which circulate from time to time of friction between the American imports and Canadians in the WIFU was the revelation that the 12 Roughriders imports had voted to give their $11,000 bonus ($3,500 for getting into the WIFU series, $7,500 for making the finals), to the Canadian players and including the such behind-the-scenes people as the equipment man and trainer.

The sunny, calm day turned into a cruel night not only for the Roughriders, but also for the sell-out crowd. The first in the history of Clarke Stadium. The biting north wind blew steadily, often gusting to about 25 miles per hour. There was a near-continuous swirl of dirt and cinders across the snow-dusted field. Virtually every fan in the first 30 rows had a dirt-streaked face as a combination of wind, earth and, if you were from Saskatchewan, the game, kept tears streaming.

RE THE PEOPLE: About 800 Saskatchewan fans invaded Edmonton Saturday, whooped it up throughout the day ... A Regina man's faith in humanity slumped badly when, at 3 a.m. Sunday he sat dejectedly in the lobby of the MacDonald Hotel asking what things were coming to when the special trains pulled out on time. ... "Whoever heard of such a thing?" he wondered. ... A number of ex-Victorians were at the game. ... Such as Bill Stephenson, ex-CKDA, now with a Vancouver station. ... And Cam Perry, who was with CJVI now with an Edmonton station. ... Jim Kearney, Vancouver Province football writer who started with this paper. ... Big Lou Mogul, one-time Winnipeg Blue Bomber who was active in football in Victoria just after the war. ... Allister MacDonald, a native son with his wife, the former Gwen Mann, also a Victorian. ... Evan Potter, a product of Oaklands district, now managing Edmonton's major van line.

Ted Reynolds, transplanted from CJVI to CBC television in Vancouver, wasn't at the Edmonton game, but has been selected to share the Grey Cup telecast next Saturday with Toronto's Steve Douglas.

Grey Cup Riddle: Getty or Parker

Canadian Quarterback Shines As Eskimos Wallop Roughriders

EDMONTON (CP)—As far as Frank Ivy is concerned, any speculation on who will be the Edmonton Eskimos' starting quarterback in Saturday's Grey Cup final at Toronto is nothing more than conjecture, but not even the wary Edmonton coach will deny that Canadian Don Getty has proven himself capable of it.

The 22-year-old Getty, second-year Eskimo from the University of Western Ontario and understudy in 1955 and most of this season to Jackie Parker, called a masterful game Saturday night as the defending Grey Cup champions trounced Saskatchewan Roughriders 51-7 to win the western football championship.

Getty threw 12 forward passes and with a solid line in front of him and sure-fingered receivers as targets, he completed 10 of them, including four for touchdowns.

IVY IS JUBILANT

"He played himself a terrific game," said Ivy in a jubilant Eskimo dressing room after the club had won a berth in the Canadian final for the third consecutive year.

For that matter, the entire Eskimo machine played itself a terrific game, displaying awesome power offensively and a defensive pattern that brought four important pass interceptions against Frank Tripucka.

The victory Saturday night gave Eskimos their third straight western title and their fourth in five years. For the third year in a row, they met Montreal Alouettes in the Canadian final, won by Eskimos the last two years.

Despite vicious tackling and rocking line play, neither club suffered serious injury in the contest. Eskimos came out of it with nothing worse than a few added bruises, despite the fact some players were in action on half-healed injuries from earlier games.

Parker, the Mississippi State graduate who as a halfback in 1954 and quarter in 1955 was a major cog in Eskimos' Grey Cup victories, was shifted to halfback for the last two games of the western final because of injuries to other Edmonton halves.

Saturday night he caught three Getty forward passes for touchdowns, the first going 17 yards, the second 20 and the third 24. Parker also punted for two singles for a 20-point night.

Fullback Johnny Bright got two touchdowns, plunging from nine yards out on the second play of the game to open the scoring, then crashing through the line for 21 yards to another score that gave Eskimos a 22-1 margin in the first quarter.

Maryland end Bill Walker got a touchdown and punted for a single. Fullback Normie Kwong, the Calgary-born China Clipper, smashed over centre for one yard to cap a 73-yard march.

Oklahoma end Joe Mobra kicked six converts. Montreal Alouettes threw a 14-yard forward pass to veteran halfback Sully Glasser for a touchdown and guard Reggie Whitehouse got a single on a 25-yard placement attempt that went wide.

Als Oust Ti-Cats In Cliff-Hanger

MONTREAL (BUP)—The Grey Cup bound Montreal Alouettes were back to work mending their riddled fences today following Saturday's hair-raising, 48-41, victory over the Hamilton Tiger-Cats that gave them a 78-62 edge in the two-game, total-point series.

The Als, in typically exciting fashion, overcame numerous threats by a willing and game Hamilton team through a combination of explosive aerial fireworks and good breaks. The Tiger-Cats were never able to overcome more than part of the nine-point margin the Alouettes carried into the game following Montreal's 30-21 victory in the first game the previous Saturday. Twice they shaved the Als' overall lead to a mere three points and once, midway through the third quarter, they were only two points short of catching Montreal.

Each time the Alouettes managed to turn back the threat with a key defensive manoeuvre or an opportunistic penalty against Hamilton. Hal Patterson stopped Hamilton quarterback Tony Curcio on the one-foot line on the last play of the first half. Two questionable pass interference calls gave the Alouettes the ball inside the Hamilton six-yard line and an illegal interference ruling halted Hamilton within striking distance. In all, the Tigers were pushed back 69 yards compared with none by Montreal.

"If we got all the best of the officiating," said Montreal president Ted Workman, "all I have to say is that it's about time. Actually I thought they (the officials) called a pretty good game. If they missed some calls against us then they missed just as many against Hamilton."

Hamilton captain Ed Bevan and halfback Hal Waggoner, who scored three times on passes from Curcio and gained 262 yards on eight pass receptions, lodged a verbal protest over the officiating. It concerned the illegal interference call which gave the ball to the Alouettes in the second quarter. However, the protest was not made official.

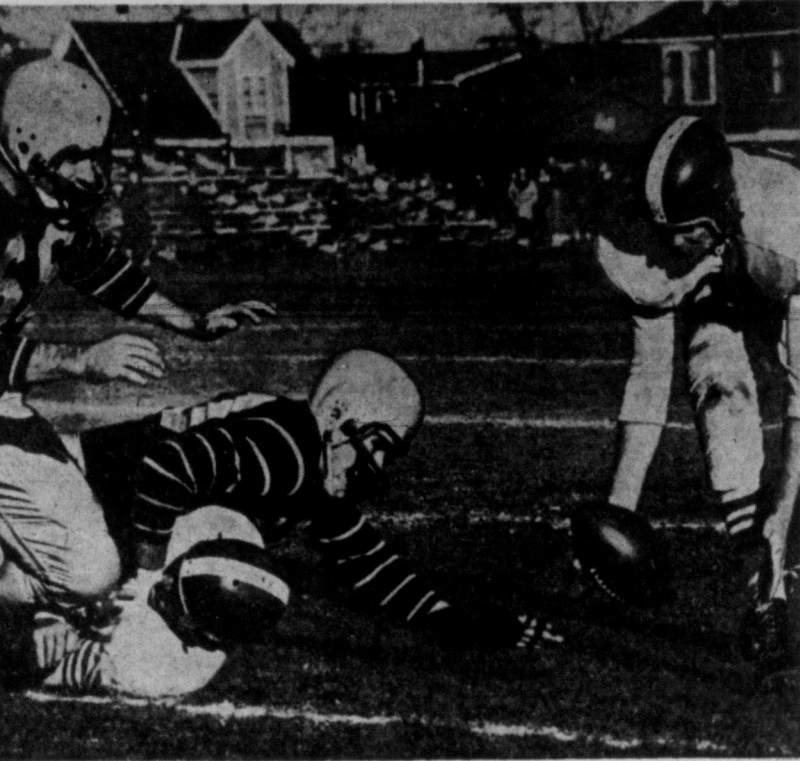

Workman, the 26-year-old boss of the Alouettes, said, however, that his colorful club would have to improve if they hoped to finally beat the Western champs.

Hamilton officials were amazed to see them in the room. Then he walked over to me and said, "Montreal Alouettes are too good a football club to require the services of five extra men."

"Then he said, 'You are a disgrace to Canadian football.' And then he asked how many penalties we had called. No one answered him so he said, 'I'm asking you, how many penalties? Do you intend to answer or haven't you the courage?'"

Bowden said he asked Trimble to leave the room and told him he did not wish to discuss the situation.

"Then Gaudaur stepped up," said Bowden. "He said, 'You've just heard an American—now listen to a Canadian. You fellows are ...' (Bowden said he couldn't repeat for publication what followed). Then I asked them again to leave the room and they left."

THAT'S THE WAY THE BALL BOUNCES

Dockers Flub Chance; Butlers Snare Second

Esquimalt flubbed a chance to climb within a single point of pace-setting Gorge Hotel in the Victoria and District Football Association Sunday and skidded into a third-place tie with Punjab United by dropping a 3-2 verdict to the Punjab club at Macdonald Park.

Butler Bros. took advantage of the Dockyarders' misfortune and vaulted into the runner-up spot by blanking Brodies' Bakery, 2-0, at Heywood Avenue.

At Central Park, Canadian Scottish broke out in a rash of goals to rack up its first league victory of the season, trimming Heaneys, 6-3.

LOSE CUP HOPES

Gorge, unbeaten in five league starts, was bounced out of the McGavin Cup competition at Royal Athletic Park Saturday, losing a 4-0 tussle with Tillicums as the clubmen came up with their first win of the season.

Henri Vanderhorst was the hero of the Punjab triumph as he rapped in the only goal of the second half to break a 2-2 deadlock.

Chris Brown and Al Hendrickson fired the other two United tallies while Keith Todd and Jake Blevins produced first-half markers for Esquimalt.

Butlers and Brodies battled through a scoreless first half before Dick Nulles and Ron Pearce fired the goals that gave Butlers their fourth win of the season.

Canadian Scottish collected five goals in the second half, three of them by Neil Standley, after being held to a 1-1 tie in the opening session. Archie Taylor, Ernie Eastlake and Walter Tate each scored once for the Scots.

Bill Burley, with two goals, and Nelson Crisp handled the scoring for Heaneys.

PLAY SHORT

Forced to play with 10 men after Don Hendry was banished for rough play with 10 minutes remaining in the first half, Gorge Hotel held out against a determined Tillicums attack until 25 minutes after the intermission.

Joe Gobet finally broke through the stubborn Gorge defence, then two goals by Ced Robb and a singleton by Tim Walker wrapped up the victory that moved Tillicums into a semifinal cup match against Butler Bros. Dec. 1.

Punjab and Brodies meet in the other semifinal Saturday at Royal Athletic Park.

PHONY OLYMPIC TORCH BURNS UP LORD MAYOR

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Sydney University students fooled the Lord Mayor and thousands of spectators Sunday night with a fake Olympic torch. Lord Mayor Patrick Hills was waiting on the steps of the town hall to greet the torch, which was being carried by runner to Melbourne, site of the Olympic Games.

A crowd of 30,000 cheered when the students trotted up and handed him a torch made from a silver-painted chair leg.

Hills clasped the torch and began his speech of welcome. Then he realized the silver paint was still sticky.

Wind Blows No Good For Button Defenders

Both the city open and junior golf buttons changed hands at Victoria Golf Club, Sunday, but they remained in the possession of Gorge Vale swingers.

John Carlow and Norm Boden failed in their second defence of the open pins as they took a 5-and-4 trimming from clubmates Art and Harry Donaldson.

Ted Bradshaw and Bill Holland lost in their first defence of the junior buttons, dropping a 2-and-1 decision to Roy Chappell and Jim McColl in another all-Gorge battle.

Tillicums Ride High On Lance's Shoulders

Lance Rutherford continued his sizzling scoring pace in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association Sunday, scoring his 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th goals of the season to lead Tillicums to a 5-1 victory over Optimists, Division II leaders, at Carnarvon Park.

The lanky centre forward rapped in three markers while Daryl McIntyre was collecting Optimists' lone tally to give the Division I pace-setters a 3-1 lead at the breather.

Another goal by Rutherford and a single marker by Ken Liebel completed the scoring as Tillicums took the rubber game of three matches between the clubs this season.

Another inter-divisional clash Sunday saw MacNutt's Grocery edge the still winless Division II

Cougars Lose To Royals; Canucks Here

Hockey fans attending Rotary Hockey Night at Memorial Arena tonight may be seeing some of the Victoria Cougars for the last time.

For Cougar coach Colin Kilburn, following the team's 3-0 loss to New Westminster Saturday, its fourth in a row, contacted Boston Bruins' Lynn Patrick Sunday with a plea for help.

Kilburn wouldn't name the Cougars under the axe, but "I expect to have a few player problems solved by the end of the week."

His more immediate task tonight at 8.30 will be disposing of the Vancouver Canucks, who arrive owners of a three-game losing streak of their own incurred on a sweep through the Prairie division of the Western Hockey League.

LOSE IN OVERTIME

Canucks lost to Calgary Stampede, 4-3, in overtime Saturday, while Seattle Americans handed Brandon its first defeat of the season on home ice, 5-2, in the other WHL games.

The Cougars couldn't get untracked against a brilliant Bev Bentley in the New Westminster goal Saturday. Bentley stopped 22 shots, most of them sizzlers in racking up his second shutout of the season.

Arnie Schmeitzler broke a scoreless deadlock at 13:07 of the second period for Royals, and they added two goals by rookie Denny Olson in the third to fashion the victory.

The game contained several rough spots, with Cougars' Beckett and Royals' Pete Durham tangling in the first period in the most notable affray. Both received majors for fighting, while Royals' Gordie Fashaway, lobbying around the outside of the argument, received two minutes for his participation.

At Calgary, Canucks blew a 3-1 lead entering the third period, and were only 63 seconds away from a 3-2 victory when Doc Couture scored for the Stampede.

Sid Finney wrapped things up for the Stamps after 22 seconds of overtime with his second goal of the game. Vancouver's Wiggle Wylie and Finney scored in the first for a 1-1 deadlock, and Phil Maloney and Mott McLean gave the Canucks their second-period edge.

Seattle called upon its third line at Brandon to snap the Regals' home streak. Rudy Filion, Bart Bradley and George Senick carried the mail this time. Senick scored two goals and one assist; Filion had a goal and an assist and Bradley picked up a goal and three assists for the Americans, solid leaders in the coast division of the league.

League-leading scorer Guyle Fielder counted Seattle's other goal while Elliott Chorley and Vic Lynn scored for Brandon. Americans scored once in the first and had a 4-0 lead entering the third period. They made it 5-0 before the Regals finally dented goaltender Emile Francis' armor.

Three inter-divisional matches were played Saturday.

Heaneys of Division IV came within an eyelash of an upset as they battled to a scoreless draw with the Division III Eagles at Beacon Hill but the other two games were one-sided affairs.

Two goals each by Larry Fletcher, Joe Stebeck and Don Elphick gave Fullers Clippers, Division III, a 6-0 triumph over Victoria West, Division IV, at Topaz Avenue and Jim Ackin-close fired three goals to lead Eagles, Division V, to a 7-0 win over ANAF Vets, Division VI, at Hollywood Park.

IOC BOSS CLAIMS

Olympic Idea Aid for Peace

MELBOURNE (AP)—Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympics Committee, today said the Olympic movement, without money or soldiers, can help stop warfare by setting examples of fair play and sportsmanship for politicians to follow.

Brundage spoke at the annual International Olympic Committee (IOC) meeting, opening phase of the 16th Olympiad Games. Competition runs from Thursday through Dec. 8.

Rumors circulated in Melbourne that several IOC members were trying to line up support either to censure Russia for its actions in Hungary or to expel the Russians entirely from the Olympic movement.

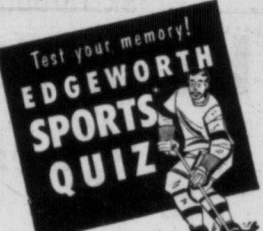

Several IOC members discounted the rumor and at least two others said that even if a discussion on expelling the Russians came up during the two-day IOC meeting it would fail to enlist widespread support.

Redskins Skid To 20-5 Loss In Grid Final

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Hamilton Tiger-Cat Bees overcame a 4-0 first-quarter deficit Sunday to defeat Fort William Redskins 20-5 in a sudden-death final for the Canadian intermediate football championship.

Playing in intermittent drizzle on a muddy, greasy surface that hampered running plays and made passing difficult, Tiger-Cats rebounded with a touchdown in the second quarter and two more in the final.

George Grant kicked a field goal and a single for Fort William, Redskins' other point was on a kick to the end zone by Bob McKie.

Orson Welles Returns In Jeep Style Film

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After an absence of seven years, Orson Welles is back before the Hollywood film cameras as fat and sassy as ever.

Welles has returned in "Pay the Devil" with Jeff Chandler. Welles plays a cattle baron, Chandler the sheriff.

"But it's not really a western," Welles cautioned. "It's a modern story, and there isn't a horse in the whole picture. We ride over the countryside in jeeps.

"I'm not really playing a heavy—just a man who doesn't want to do bad things, but is forced into them by circumstances. That's what interested me in the role."

Plainly evidencing a losing battle with the calories, Welles talked of television.

"With few exceptions, drama comes off poorly on TV. I realize the limitations of time and money, but I can't stand to watch dramas which are little better than dress rehearsals. It's like summer theatre all year long," he said.

Ulanova, dancing in London last month.

SPRAINED A TENDON

Soviet Ballerina Collapses on Stage

MOSCOW (AP)—Galina Ulanova, prima ballerina of the Bolshoi Theatre ballet, pulled a tendon and collapsed on stage Saturday night while dancing the title role in Giselle.

Ulanova had just completed a second act solo when she crumpled to the floor. The performance continued with Raisa Struchkova replacing Ulanova. It was Ulanova's first appearance here in Giselle since the Bolshoi troupe's London engagement last month. She is 46. After dancing spectacularly in the first act, Ulanova reappeared in the second act but after only five minutes appeared to sink down near the wings.

The curtain was rung down and the theatre lights went on. A gasp went up from the audience and some women began to cry.

The company director appeared 15 minutes later and said Ulanova would not be able to dance for four or five days.

A tremendously moving story of war-time Britain and a man, who, because of his views, becomes a potential deserter from the army; and a woman who believes in her country. Perhaps particularly applicable to our critical times. This is the first and only time these two stars have been co-starred together. Very good entertainment.

Premiere of Nelsova Recording Planned

The distinctive Recorded Music Society evenings at Victoria Art Gallery are rapidly growing in appeal because of the perfection of the setting and fine calibre of the music.

Next Thursday a particularly outstanding program has been arranged. Highlight, according to an announcement by H. E. Stubbings, president of the society, will be a special premiere of a just-released recording of the Cello Sonata in E minor by Rachmaninoff. Performance is by Zara Nelsova, the remarkable cellist recently heard as guest artist with Victoria Symphony Orchestra, and Artur Balsam, pianist.

Balance of the program will be made up of a group of songs of Elizabethan England sung by the world's foremost counter-tenor (male alto) Alfred Deller; Bach's boisterous Concerto for Two Pianos and Orchestra with Clara Haskil and Geza Anda as duo pianists, and the Sibelius Symphony No. 2, played by the Philharmonia Orchestra, conducted by Paul Kletzki.

Canadian's Recital 'Astounding,' Says New York Critic

NEW YORK (CP) — Canada's Glenn Gould gave a New York recital at the Grace Rainey Rogers Auditorium, Friday night, and the youthful Toronto pianist's performance is hailed by one critic as "astounding".

The recital "would have been remarkable if it had come from a veteran artist in his mature middle years," says the Herald Tribune. "Coming from a 23-year-old, it was astounding."

Gould's program, made up of works by Bach, Krenek and Hindemith, "displayed these attributes functioning at a high level," the critic adds.

Toronto Artist's 'Cabot's Tower' Selected by UN

TORONTO (CP) — The United Nations Reference Library in New York has honored Toronto painter Frederic Steiger, 54, by choosing one of his paintings to hang on its walls.

Mr. Steiger said he received a telephone call from Alvin Thiessen, acting chief librarian, saying he wanted a "typical Canadian painting" and that it had been decided that the painter should be Mr. Steiger.

Mr. Steiger chose a semi-abstract painting of Cabot's Tower, a historic landmark on Canada's east coast.

The painter was born in Tropau, on the borders of Austria and Czechoslovakia, and came to Canada in 1922.

A post office spokesman said the Lions' literature was rejected because "bingo is banned under Canada's Criminal Code."

City Tug Races To Save Seaman

The Victoria deep-sea salvage tug Ss. Sudbury today completed a two-and-one-half-day mercy mission through heavy gales to take one of her crewmen to medical aid at Adak, U.S. Navy base in the Aleutian Islands.

HARRY TEBB
...reaches hospital in Aleutians

The seaman, Harry Tebb, 38, of 5640 West Saanich Road, showed dangerous signs of appendicitis last Friday.

Capt. Harley Blagborne of the Sudbury established contact with the U.S. Coast Guard at Adak, and the coast guard medical officer wirelessly detailed instructions for treatment.

But as the Sudbury's wireless crackled out reports on Tebb's symptoms, the coast guard doctor wirelessly back:

"Take no chances. Only solution bring him here for treatment."

The Sudbury was then about 500 miles from Adak, headed for the crippled U.S. freighter Thunderbird, drifting without a propeller in mid-Pacific.

She changed course early Saturday morning to buck into

Khrushchev Threatens Westerners

'We'll Bury You' He Tells Group

By HAROLD K. MILKS

MOSCOW (AP) — Red-faced and gesticulating, Nikita S. Khrushchev told the West Sunday night: "We will bury you."

For the second consecutive night, the Soviet Communist party leader delivered an anti-Western tirade so bitter that diplomats from the Atlantic Alliance and Israel left the room. Khrushchev's main themes "at a Polish Embassy reception were Egypt and Hungary."

Obviously speaking to the Western diplomats in attendance, Khrushchev said:

"If you don't like us, don't accept our invitations and don't invite us to come to see you."

"Whether you like it or not, history is on our side. We will bury you."

The Western envoys, including United States Ambassador Charles Bohlen, retired to an outer room where one said "the atmosphere is much more pleasant." They returned to the hall where the Poles were toasting a just-signed Moscow-Warsaw joint declaration.

EGYPTIANS FIRE ON ALLIES FOR 4 HOURS

LONDON (CP) — Gunfire broke out again Sunday night across the cease-fire line separating Egyptian and British-French troops 30 miles south of Port Said.

The British-French command said the Egyptians fired on their lines for more than four hours—but that the British and French troops did not shoot back. There were no casualties.

Lt. Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell has asked UN observers to investigate the shooting.

Knocked to the pavement by a youth who stole her purse containing 40 cents, Mrs. Mary McMillan, 76, is in hospital today with a fractured wrist.

ALL FOR 40 CENTS

Woman, 76, Slugged By Purse Snatcher

A tall, thin youth is sought by police for a callous purse-snatching attack on a 76-year-old woman Saturday night.

Mrs. Mary McMillan, 2507 Quadra, suffered shock and a fractured wrist when she was attacked about 7 p.m. as she was walking beside the Jimmie Little store parking lot on Quadra Street.

She was returning to her room after finishing her cleaning job in a downtown office.

Her black leather purse contained 40 cents, eyeglasses and papers.

Police were called by William Shawyer of 2507 Quadra, after Mrs. McMillan had managed to walk the three blocks to her home.

"We found her outside the house fumbling around," Mr. Shawyer said today. "She was dazed."

Mrs. McMillan described her attacker as tall, thin, fair-haired, wearing a light zipper jacket and dark pants.

106 Danish Troops Swell UN Force; Airlift Speeded

CAPODICHINO, Italy (AP) — Three more flights left today carrying 106 Danish officers and men to join the growing United Nations police force in the Suez Canal zone.

More than 500 men of the force already are in barracks near Ismailia, awaiting completion of arrangements for them to move out to begin policing the cease-fire and withdrawal of British, French and Israeli troops.

A UN spokesman announced plans to speed up the airlift of troops to Egypt. He said 10 Italian air force C-119 flying boxcars will be placed "on temporary loan" to the UN by the Italian government.

An earlier report, by The Toronto Globe and Mail said the Queen's Own Rifles definitely would not be sent to Suez, but that Canada would fly 1,000 headquarters personnel to the area.

Meanwhile, the sailing of HMCS Magnificent from Halifax—planned to carry the main contingent of the QOR—has been suspended. However, the ship is standing by in case there is a change in plans.

Meanwhile, plans for moving the main body of the 1,200-man force out of Halifax aboard the aircraft carrier Magnificent have been suspended, but not abandoned. Troops can sail on a few hours' notice.

A Canadian source at the United Nations at New York said Egyptian objections to the Canadian infantry unit caused the change in plans.

Some sources speculated the Egyptian objection was to the name of the Canadian unit—Queen's Own Rifles—and the fact they would be wearing uniforms of a country of the British Commonwealth.

On Sunday night the prime minister's office issued a statement on the situation. It emphasized that signing by cabinet of an order-in-council authorizing dispatch of Canadian troops would be followed by the calling of a special session of Parliament to sit within 10 days. The session would be asked to approve outlay of funds for the contingent.

The meeting likely would authorize "the dispatch of the Canadian contribution in the order of its several elements as arranged with United Nations command."

Price increases range from 20 to 50 cents on rye whiskey, 30 to 45 cents on gin and 5 cents on rum.

Prices of some imported wines have been increased by 15 cents a bottle. Canadian wines are unchanged.

There is no increase in the prices of imported Scotch whisky.

Egypt Objection Behind Change In Ottawa Plan?

(From Times News Services)

Dispatches from Ottawa and United Nations headquarters in New York this afternoon made it clear that the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles, reinforced by 243 men from Gordon Head Camp, will not sail immediately for the Suez area as previously announced.

After a weekend of confusion over the impending movement of the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles, reinforced by 243 men from Gordon Head Camp, will not sail immediately for the Suez area as previously announced.

It was then disclosed that Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, head of the UN force, had asked the Canadian government to give, this priority.

This announcement came only a short time after a special cabinet meeting arranged to commit the Canadian forces had been cancelled earlier this afternoon.

after Khrushchev finished speaking.

SAME BLAST EARLIER

The night before, Khrushchev had denounced "Fascist gangs" in Hungary and "imperialists and their puppets" in the Egyptian war during a Kremlin reception for the Poles.

On that occasion the Western diplomats stalked out and did not return.

Sunday night's party followed agreement on a joint Polish-Russian statement which some Poles consider a virtual declaration of independence — although Poland remains firmly within the Moscow-led alliance.

Khrushchev began calmly: "We are Bolsheviks. We stick firmly to the Lenin precept — don't be stubborn if you see you are wrong, but don't give in if you are right."

He said the Communist countries can find solutions to all their problems on the basis of mutual understanding and equality.

But then, seemingly directing his remarks at the Western diplomats, he said:

"We say this not only for the Socialist states who are more akin to us. We base ourselves on the idea that we must peacefully co-exist. About the capitalist states, it doesn't depend on you whether or not we exist."

"HISTORY FAVORS US"

Khrushchev then announced that history was on the Communist side and that "we will bury you." Other Russian leaders burst into applause.

On Hungary, Khrushchev said: "We are very sorry that such a situation exists there. We are sure that the Hungarian working class will find the strength to overcome the difficulties. But the most important thing is that the counter-revolution must be shattered."

Of Egypt:

"The Western powers are trying to denigrate Nasser... the situation is serious, and we are realistic. The fire must be put out. I think the British and French will be wise enough to withdraw their forces and then Egypt will emerge stronger than ever."

Again referring to the West, Khrushchev said:

"You say we want war, but you now have got yourselves into a position I would call idiotic."

MENTIONS TROOPS

"But we don't want to profit by it. If you withdraw your troops from Germany, France and Britain — I'm speaking of American troops — we will not stay one day in Poland, Hungary and Romania."

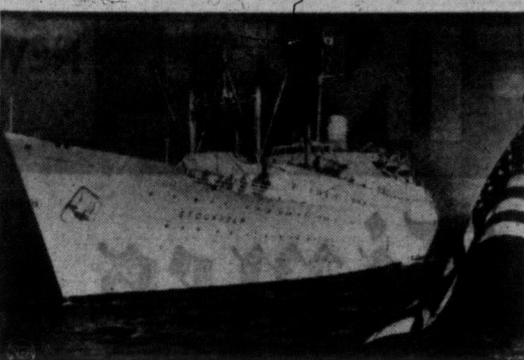

"But we, mister capitalists, we are beginning to understand your methods. You have given us a lesson in Egypt. If we had a quarter of our present friendships for the Poles, Czechs and Slovaks before the war, (Second World War) the war would never have started."

SHE'S NOT EVEN A SPECIAL FRIEND

Romance With Duke of Kent Denied by Canadian Model

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. Sara Tufnell, pretty Canadian-born blonde model, who is separated from her husband, denied today she is having a romance with the Duke of Kent, 21-year-old cousin of the Queen.

"I'm a friend of his, sure, but not a special one," the 22-year-old beauty told reporters. Mrs. Tufnell, mother of an 18-month-old daughter, has been living apart from her businessman husband since August.

OTTAWA RIFLE BAN BLAMED

Marooned U.S. Party Suffered Food Lack

PORT HARDY, B.C. (CP)—Three Americans, rescued Saturday after being marooned on the tip of Vancouver Island, said if Canadian government regulations had permitted them to carry a rifle they would not have been without food.

The Americans and a Canadian department of transport employee were rescued by a commercial airlines helicopter.

They are Ronald C. Hetherington of Seattle, who suffered a mild heart attack Friday; Richard Radra and Lyle Work, both of Oakland, Calif. Fourth man was S. J. Sillett, 21, of Vancouver.

The three Americans are employees of the U.S. coast and geodetic survey. They had been at Cape Scott since July 23 working an electronic indicator station connected with laying a telephone cable from Port Angeles, Wash., to Alaska.

Hetherington, foreman on the job, said the three had been on short rations for some time, and that food supplies had dwindled to corn meal in the last few days.

Last Tuesday, Sillett, a government radio operator, flew in to aid the stranded men, but was marooned when the light plane was forced to take off because of bad weather just after Sillett reached the beach.

Saturday the helicopter took the men to Hanson Lagoon, three miles from Cape Scott, and later a PWA Beaver flew them to Port Hardy.

"If your Canadian government didn't look unkindly on us carrying rifles on these jobs," Hetherington said, "we would have had more to eat—there was plenty of game about."

The Sudbury's owners today expressed high praise for the co-operation of the U.S. Navy and Coast Guard in providing medical advice and care for the sick seaman.

BLACK ELECTED

A total of about 105 resolutions were dealt with by the convention, apart from constitutional resolutions.

New executive of the federation is headed by William Black, president, business agent of Hospital Employees' Union, local 180, Vancouver, formerly a Trades Union Congress organization.

Other executive members, apart from second vice-president Victor Midgley, international representative of the carpenters' union in Victoria, are former B.C. Federation of Labor (CCL) leaders, favoring CCF policies.

Montreal, Ottawa Experts To Head New Museums

MONTREAL (CP)—Resources Minister Lesage today announced the names of the heads of Canada's two new national museums.

He told a meeting of the Canadian Club here that Dr. Jacques Rousseau, 51, director of Montreal's botanical gardens, will be director of the new Canadian museum of human history, and Dr. Louis Shano Russell, 52, of Ottawa will be director of the Canadian museum of natural history.

Dr. Russell, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., now is on the staff of the present National Museum which is to be split into the two new institutions. Prime Minister St. Laurent announced the move in Ottawa Nov. 12.

Dr. Russell is a graduate of University of Alberta and Princeton University. After service with the University of Toronto and the Royal Ontario Museum, he joined

Political Action Studied by Labor

B.C. Federation Names Group To Recommend 'Effective Program'

(From The Canadian Press)

Newly-formed B.C. Federation of Labor decided Sunday to appoint a committee to study provincial politics.

The resolution, one of nine important steps taken at the four-day Vancouver meeting — the federation's first annual convention — also endorsed political policies set by the Canadian Labor Congress, formed by merger last April.

The committee will report to the B.C. Federation's next convention "with definite proposals for an effective political action program." Meanwhile it will meet with the CCF party, farmer's organizations and other co-operatives pledged to support the federation program.

NEW PARTY?

Some affiliated unions favor alliance with the CCF party and individuals have favored establishment of a new labor party in B.C. The CLC policy opposes direct political party ties for the national federation.

Other moves made by the B.C. Federation: 1. Request that the B.C. Liquor Control Board restore alcohol percentage in liquor to pre-war level. 2. Request that the provincial government take steps to permit legal Sunday sports on a local basis.

3. Resolution asking the provincial government to release the RCMP report on the Sturdy-Sommers case. 4. Request for a contributory national health scheme covering all Canadians including newly-arrived immigrants.

5. Referral to the new executive of a resolution asking for a universal $100 a month old age pension. 6. Introduction of a resolution calling for establishment of senior colleges in outlying areas of the province, working in conjunction with the University of B.C.

7. Endorsement of a resolution urging the government to pay tuition fees of high school graduates showing scholastic promise who are unable to attend university because of the cost. Also to pay part of travel and living costs of students from the outcountry. 8. Rejection of a resolution urging the CLC to lift suspension of the Communist-dominated United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.).

9. Request to the federal government to pay prevailing rates to fire fighters employed by the defence department in military and naval establishments.

The Sudbury's mercy run is reminiscent of a mission she carried out a year ago while proceeding to the aid of the freighter Ss. Makedonia on what became the longest salvage tow in Pacific history.

At that time Sudbury's radio operator kept 24-hour watch relaying messages from Adak's medical officer for treatment of a sick child on a lonely Aleutian outpost.

The Sudbury's owners today expressed high praise for the co-operation of the U.S. Navy and Coast Guard in providing medical advice and care for the sick seaman.

JOEY IS SEVEN

Boy Conductor Excites Carnegie Hall

NEW YORK (AP)—While most parents were tucking their seven-year-olds into bed, a seven-year-old New York boy was making his debut Sunday night as conductor of the Symphony of the Air in Carnegie Hall.

The youngest, in white suit and white socks, bare knees, a shock of curly brown hair and a sober little face, led the grown-up musicians in a grown-up program: Mozart and Rossini overtures, the Haydn "surprise" symphony and even the Beethoven fifth.

His name is Joey Alfidi, son of

Orson Welles Returns In Jeep Style Film

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After an absence of seven years, Orson Welles is back before the Hollywood film cameras as fat and assey as ever.

Welles has returned in "Pay the Devil" with Jeff Chandler. Welles plays a cattle baron, Chandler the sheriff.

"But it's not really a western," Welles cautioned. "It's a modern story, and there isn't a horse in the whole picture. We ride over the countryside in jeeps.

"I'm not really playing a heavy—just a man who doesn't want to do bad things, but is forced into them by circumstances. That's what interested me in the role."

Plainly evidencing a losing battle with the calories, Welles talked of television.

"With few exceptions, drama comes off poorly on TV. I realize the limitations of time and money, but I can't stand to watch dramas which are little better than dress rehearsals. It's like summer theatre all year long," he said.

Ulanova, dancing in London last month.

SPRAINED A TENDON

Soviet Ballerina Collapses on Stage

MOSCOW (AP)—Galina Ulanova, prima ballerina of the Bolshoi Theatre ballet, pulled a tendon and collapsed on stage Saturday night while dancing the title role in Giselle.

Ulanova had just completed a second act solo when she crumpled to the floor. The performance continued with Raisa Struchkova replacing Ulanova. It was Ulanova's first appearance here in Giselle since the Bolshoi troupe's London engagement last month. She is 46.

After dancing spectacularly in the first act, Ulanova reappeared in the second act but after only five minutes appeared to sink down near the wings.

The curtain was rung down and the theatre lights went on. A gasp went up from the audience and some women began to cry.

The company director appeared 15 minutes later and said Ulanova would not be able to dance for four or five days.

PT. ALBERNI TRUCKER SWITCHES FROM GASOLINE 10,000 Miles Without Oil Change Claimed for Trucks Using Propane

By JOYCE HUME

PORT ALBERNI — Ever dream of an engine that could run for 22,000 miles and leave the valves as clean as the day they were last ground?

Ever dream of an engine that would run for 10,000 miles without an oil change? H. L. Pitts, a trucker in Port Alberni, claims he has one.

Mr. Pitts operates a fleet of trucks between Alberni Plywood and APL mills. His four trucks carry wood chips to the pulp mill—and Mr. Pitts said after switching from gasoline to propane gas his trucks perform better, run more economically, and promise to have longer engine life.

"I switched to propane in February after reading about trucks operating on this type of gas in the United States," he told the Times. "After 22,000 miles of operation, I checked the valves and found them as clean as the day we ground them. In fact with propane gas the whole engine remains wonderfully clean."

Mileage from propane gas is equal to that obtained from gasoline—but propane gas is around 10 cents a gallon cheaper.

Mr. Pitts has a 1,000-gallon storage tank in his truck yard from which he pressures the propane into tanks on his trucks.

"It goes into the truck tanks as liquid, but reaches the carburetor as a vapor," he says. "It is sucked into the carburetor after passing through a vaporizer placed just inside the hood. It burns as a vapor, not a liquid."

After several months of experimenting with his first truck, Mr. Pitts switched his whole fleet to the propane style of operating.

"We made slight alterations to the carburetors on two trucks and put new carbs on the other two," Mr. Pitts said. "Actually on a small passenger car you don't need to make any changes. You can actually switch from propane to gasoline and back without a change of any kind."

In the transformation from gasoline to propane gas, Mr. Pitts planned the heads on two of his trucks.

"We did it to gain more power, but I don't think it essential," he said. "On the second two we left them as they were and we have power enough for anything."

A native of Sowerby Bridge, Yorkshire, England, Mr. Pitts says he wouldn't keep the units if they were not economical.

"But, at 27 cents a gallon to the small retailer—and I get propane cheaper because I have the 1,000 storage tank—and the same mileage you could obtain from ordinary gasoline, well, you can't help but save money, can you?" Propane users are able to purchase gas at any one of the larger island centres.

Truck driver Bert Macintosh told the Times the trucks have given a far better performance since switching to propane.

"I can't quite describe it, but there is more power, the engine seems to run more smoothly and the whole deal appears better to me," he said.

Each of the heavy trucks carries 25 gallons of fuel.

UN Chief Promises Canal Aid to Egypt

NEW YORK (CP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld flew back to New York today to tell the United Nations General Assembly the results of his talks with Egyptian officials on guarding the cease-fire in the Middle East.

He promised to begin steps immediately after his arrival to arrange UN help in reopening the blocked Suez Canal—a gigantic salvage job expected to take at least six months.

Before leaving Cairo Sunday, Hammarskjöld said the Egyptian government asked for assistance to clear the waterway, and that he had agreed in principle. He declined to discuss other matters taken up with President Nasser before making his report to the assembly.

Nasser's chief political aide, Wing Cmdr. Ali Sabry, said in an interview that Egypt would clear the canal with UN help. The Egyptians have already protested British clearance operations under way at the north end of the canal as a violation of Egyptian sovereignty and of the cease-fire.

Hammarskjöld talked with Nasser and other Egyptian leaders for three days about the duties of the new UN police force, which now has more than 500 men standing by at a base in the canal zone, and other details of the cease-fire the General Assembly ordered 11 days ago between the Egyptians and British, French and Israeli troops.

There was no indication after the talks the Egyptians had modified their demand for speedy withdrawal of all foreign troops and stationing of the UN forces only at points on the old 1948 armistice line between Egypt and Israel. Sabry said Egypt expects the withdrawal to begin during the coming week if possible, without waiting for the UN troops to take over.

YOU'VE HEARD ABOUT ANTI-ENZYME ACTION! IT'S NEWS!

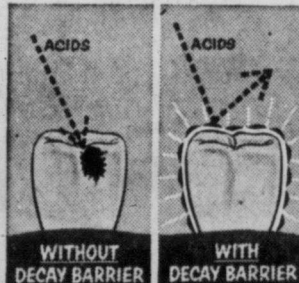

AMM-I-DENT ANTI-ENZYME ACTION GIVES YOU A DECAY BARRIER

The big news in dental care is anti-enzyme action. Amm-i-dent's formula brings you anti-enzyme action to provide you with a decay barrier around each and every tooth in your mouth.

Now brushing with Amm-i-dent Toothpaste protects teeth all day long with its enzyme inhibiting action.

Think what this means. Not only can you assure yourself and your family of bright clean teeth—now you can have the advantage of the decay barrier resulting from the anti-enzyme action provided in Amm-i-dent Toothpaste.
